SAYS GOVERNOR JACK SAID IT "WITH FLOWERS"

Testimony of Former Confidant Tells How Oklahoma Executive Sent Blooms to Sick Legislators.

PART OF "PLAN TO FOSTER FRIENDSHIP"

Ex-Bank Commissioner Ascribes Removal to Refusal to Appoint Unqualified Man as Assistant.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 23.—Dr.
J. T. Bynum, former confidant of Gov. J. C. Walton, told the investigation and impeachment committee of the lower house of the Oklahoma Legislature that he ascribed his removal from office as State Bank Commissioner to his refusal to appoint an unqualified man as Assistant Commissioner at the behest of the executive, according to his testimony read today to the full membership of the House.

Bynum testified that "a man named Baugh" came to his office with a note from the Governor stating that he wanted the man named Baugh as his Assistant Commissioner. Bynum said he explained to him that he did not intend to work, but that he was to be placed on the payroll of the department and "use his influence for the Governor."

"Know Nothing of Banking."
The former Commissioner explained that he entered a technical discussion with the visitor and said that he knew nothing about banking, whereupon he declined to consider him as an applicant for the position.

Dr. Bynum told the committee that he was later summoned to the Governor's office and that the executive declared:

"That stuff won't get by with me.
I have five other friends you have not to take care of."

The witness said he stood his ground and that the difference with the executive was never adjusted.
Baugh was not identified in the testimony.

Dr. Bynum told of numerous campaigns for financial support
staged by the Governor, both before and after his election. The witness said that he had represented the Governor in several cases.

Among funds which he said the Governor had raised, the witness listed:

Primary campaign, general election, barbecue and anti-Klux Klan.

He said he did not know the amount of any fund definitely. The only figures he quoted related to the primary campaign fund, which he said, was between $35,000 and

$14,000 MINE PAYROLL HOLDUP ON ROAD NEAR BELLEVILLE

Armed Paymaster and Guard Robbed
by Automobile Load of Robbers
When They Get Off Street Car
From St. Louis Near No. 1 Mine of Southern Coal and Coke Co.

An armed paymaster and guard carrying a payroll of about $14,000 to the Avery Mine No. 1 of the Southern Coal, Coke & Mining Co., Belleville, were held up by an automobile load of robbers as they alighted from a street car close to the mine, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and robbed of the payroll.

The money, a semi-monthly payroll for about 120 coal miners, was being taken from a St. Louis bank in a satchel. The paymaster, Walter Amb and the guard, A. Ganaway, both trusted

They got off the car at 68th and Main streets, Belleville, to go toward the mine, which is south of Main street, the concrete paved highway.

According to reports to the St.
Louis office the robbers evidently had trailed the street car to 68th street, which is in a sparsely settled district. There were said to have been five or six men in the machine.

The action was quick. A robber commanded "Hands up" and the satchel was seized. The robbers drove speedily west in the direction of East St. Louis and St. Louis. Police of this city were notified to watch the bridges for their possible approach.

The payroll was insured. W. K.
Kavanaugh, president of the company, which has extensive interests, said. He added that the miners did not like to take checks for their pay, insisting on currency.

MUCH FOOD FOR THOUGHT IN THIS ANCIENT EGG

Perfect Fossil of Embryonic Di- nosaur Found in It by Ameri- can Explorers in Mongolia.

By the Associated Press.
VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 23.—Frederick K. Morris of New York, a member of the Roy Chapman Andrews party of American scientists who have been hunting fossils in Mongolia, has arrived here aboard the Empress of Russia, bringing skeletons of other therapsids and other fossilized remains.

The titanothereids are said to have been the missing link in the race of reptilian monsters of prehistoric ages.

The Andrews party set out from Peking last April on the second year of its field work in Tushetu Province of Mongolia.

In rocks near the Altai Mountains the party discovered perfect skeletons of the Aratopsian dinosaurs. One skeleton was found a few inches in the rock above where lay a nest of nine eggs. The eggs, believed to be the first discovered in the world, were split open. In one egg was an embryonic dinosaur in perfect form. The party found upward of 70 skeletons, complete or fractional, and 25 eggs of the monsters.

It uncovered a skeleton of the baluchitherium, described as the largest land mammal yet found. Analysis of the results of the two years in the field will keep the scientific world busy for 100 years, Morris says.

BRIBE OFFER BY MATERNITY HOME FOR 'CLEAN BILL'

Secretary of Charities Bureau of C. of C. Turns Over Letter Offering $500 for Favorable Reports.

PROPOSAL TO OUST COUNTY INSTITUTION

Scott R. DeKins Asks That Helping Hand Home in Jennings Be Put Out of Missouri.

Scott R. DeKins, secretary of the Charities Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, has turned over to Prosecuting Attorney Jones of St. Louis County a letter from Samuel W. Warwick, superintendent of the Helping Hand Home, a maternity home on McLaren avenue in Jennings, offering DeKins $500 to make favorable reports concerning the home.

DeKins has asked that quo warranto proceedings to oust the institution be taken by Prosecuting Attorney Jones.
He also has forwarded a copy of the letter and a report covering the circumstances under which it was written, to the State Board of Charities and Corrections, with the request that the Helping Hand Home be prohibited from continuing its existence
in Missouri.

The letter was written Oct. 5 in the course of an investigation De-Kins was making in response to letters of complaint sent him by some of the inmates of the home. These letters, DeKins said, reflected upon the management of the home and he sent Warwick a copy of them.

Warwick told DeKins the complaints were unfounded and malicious. De-Kins said, "and I informed him that I would investigate fully. He then offered me $500 if I would ignore the complaints and make out a favorable report for the Chamber of Commerce
about his institution."

Offer of $500 in Writing.
"I told him I would not consider such a proposition unless he put it in writing and he then sat down at my desk and wrote the following letter:

"Mr. Scott R. DeKins—
"We, Mr. Samuel Warwick and his wife, Laura, agree to pay you
the sum of $500 in consideration of your henceforth issuing notundered and favorable reports as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the City of St. Louis, Mo. You are further to deliver to us all adverse reports now in your possession respecting Helping Hand Home, formerly of St. Louis, Mo., and to make all reports unfavorable to Helping Hand Association. You are to do such constructive work on behalf of this home and association as will justify our giving you this sum of money."

(Signed) "S. WARWICK." Warwick today admitted having written the letter offering DeKins $500. He said he made the offer to enlist DeKins aid in constructive work in the promotion of the Helping Hand Home.

Statement by Warwick.
"I had no thought of bribery," he said. "Several reports had been received by the Charities Bureau delingent to the reputation of the institution. They were false, but De-Kins had accepted them as true. I did not want DeKins to violate his honor or do anything that might disturb his organization."

"An organization was being formed with the idea of turning the home over to a permanent board of managers composed of prominent citizens, whose names I do not care to divulge now. Enemies of the organization inspired the complaints against us."

Complaint Against Home.
One of the complaints against the institution that was being investigated by DeKins was by a girl who formerly lived in Illinois. She complained that letters written to her in care of the home were opened before they reached her and that, although she had been told that she could receive treatment at the home free of charge, she was forced to give up $105 and sign a check for $90. She also stated a money order for $25 was taken from her.

The Helping Hand Association was granted a pro forma decree of incorporation by the Clayton Circuit Court Sept. 7, 1923. The application stated the purpose of the home was to help unmarried mothers and listed University City residents as sponsors.

CITY ART MUSEUM RETURNS 40 GIFTS OF RUF TO WIDOW

Director Sherer Takes Action
After Refusing to Pledge to Keep Them Permanently on Display.

MRS. RUF CRITICISES "ARROGANT" STAND

Director Explains He Could Not Promise Permanent Location Because of Changing Art Values.

A selection of 12 pictures and 28
Oriental rugs made by Director Sherer of the City Art Museum
from the Frank A. Ruf gallery, under the terms of the wealthy remedy manufacturer's will, was returned yesterday to Mrs. Ruf and the Museum abandoned all claim to a share in the estate.

This action followed a disagreement between the donor's widow and Director Sherer as to the pledges the Museum would make in accepting the gift. Mrs. Ruf held that Sherer's refusal to promise that the Ruf objects would be permanently displayed in the Museum placed the estate in danger of sale. Sherer contended it was a fixed policy of the institution to make no conditions.

Another element in the dispute was that Sherer did not place the same value on the pictures and rugs
as did Mrs. Ruf. Since her husband's death last May 23, the large Ruf art collection has been variously appraised, many critics asserting that a number of old paintings credited to old masters were actually done by modern artists.

When the situation reached an impass, Mrs. Ruf asked that the selection be returned, Sherer said.
"I asked Mr. Sherer to promise me
he would not sell my husband's art," Mrs. Ruf related. "He refused to do so, saying he would make no promises of any sort. He said the Museum never sold art objects co-
nated to it, but a friend of mine told me he had acted as an agent for the Museum in such transactions. I told Mr. Sherer of this and he again denied it saying, 'A woman were obliged to discharge told you that.'"

Wanted Objects Displayed.
"I couldn't see why Mr. Sherer should make a selection unless he intended to display the objects. I called his attention to the clause in the will which expressly stipulated that the donation was for exhibition purposes and therefore could not be sold."

The selection Sherer decided upon included three canvases by Moran a noted American painter of Western scenes, particularly of the Grand Canyon; and two canvases by Meeker, another prominent painter of the "great outdoors." One of the Museum pictures was appraised by the art jury for the estate at $1250. Mrs.
Ruf said her husband had paid $5000 for it.

Director Sherer prepared a statement this morning as follows:
"Under the terms of the will of the late Frank A. Ruf, the City Art Museum was privileged to select from his collection such paintings,
rugs and other objects as the management desired. We were not aware, until recently, that any conditions attached to the gift, but it now develops that the selection is subject to the condition of 'exhibition.' Mrs. Ruf interprets this to mean for 'permanent exhibition'— which is a condition contrary to the policy of the board, even though exhibition space were available. It is obviously impossible to exhibit at all times every object in the museum."

"To comply with Mrs. Ruf's conditions would be detrimental to the best interests of the museum, now
as in the future. It would complicate the sale and purchase of which they might not approve, nor be able to fulfill. No object has been accepted under such a condition no matter what its merit or value, nor have we up to this time
found that such a policy deprived us of any worthy gift. We cannot take down and store paintings of great

BOND BROKER ON TRIAL ON FORGERY CHARGE

GEORGE V. HALLIDAY.
RACE OF PALEFACE INDIANS
REPORTED FOUND IN PANAMA

American Explorer Says Some of Natives He Saw in Jungles Had Flaxen Hair.

By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 23.— Discovery of a race of white indians with flaxen hair, in the almost impenetrable jungles of Eastern Panama, was reported today by Richard C. Marsh of Rockport, an explorer, just returned from the Isthmus. Marsh, believed to be the first white man to advance into that unexplored region of Central America since Balboa, brought back with him photographs to substantiate his claims.

The story of the discovery is told by the Rochester Journal and the Post Express in a copyrighted article.

"I was in a native village when I noticed three girls passing into the jungle," Marsh said. "They had bodies as light as a sunburned white girl and decidedly light hair—a startling and incongruous sight among these black and rag-clad negroes."

"It was then I was told they belonged to a white race living up the Chucmanne River. The negroes told me these whites all had light brown or yellow hair and were wild and warlike."

"The skin of the girls' faces was tanned, but free from that colored splotching and blotching of all brown and darker races. The features of the eldest girl were of a high oval face, thin lips, well shaped chin and aquiline nose. They spoke no Spanish."

CEMENT TRUST MUST DISSOLVE

U. S. Court in New York Issues Order.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The dissolution of a cement manufacturers' association on the ground that it was a trust was ordered by Judge Knox in United States District Court today.

Judge Knox extended the dissolution to include the association and all its corporate and individual members. He further ordered the so-called trust to discontinue the practice of interchanging statistics regarding production, and granted all other decrees sought in the Government suit.

CARNARON POISONED SHAVING

Yale Professor Says Lord's Face
Was Infected by Razor Cut.

By the Associated Press.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 23.—
Infection in a cut on his face caused by shaving and resulting in blood poisoning caused the death of Lord Carnarvon, discoverer of the Tomb of King Tutankhamen, according to Prof. Paul V. C. Baur of the Archaeology Department of Yale University, who addressed the Classical Club last night. In making this assertion, the professor declared he

CONFESSION MADE BY HALLIDAY ADMITTED IN HIS FORGERY TRIAL

REVENGE SEEN IN SLAYING OF COUPLE AT ROADHOUSE

Chauffeur of Chicagoan and Wife Also Seriously Wounded—He Says Dead Man Was Bootlegger.

There was shooting in the dance hall at Plantation Inn, at the western terminus of the Hadlam street car line and adjacent to the old suburban Garden, at 2:30 a. m. today, and when the smoke of pistols had cleared, Wilford Grant and his wife, both of Chicago, were lying dead on the floor.

Wilfred Stalnaker, their chauffeur,
who was seriously wounded by a bullet, told the police that Grant was a "bootlegger."

The statement of the manager and two bartenders at the Inn, that the shooting was done by highwaymen,
is being investigated by detectives.
Grant was shot six times and his wife twice. Detectives assert that so many shots indicate there might have been an element of revenge in the affair, and they are trying to ascertain if there was some wrong done by the couple.

Arrived at Inn About 2 A. M.
Grant, who was about 48 years old,
and his wife, Mrs. Marie Grant, who appeared to be about 35, accompanied by their chauffeur, had arrived at the Inn in their Studebaker car at about 2 a. m., and had taken seats at a table in the dance hall.
They ordered whiskey. Employees of the Inn told the police soda was served.

Patrolman Leo McKenna, the first policeman to reach the scene, found the chauffeur, Stalnaker, still conscious, and obtained from him the following version of the shooting:
"We had been in the dance hall about half an hour," he said, "when three men entered the room with drawn pistols and walked over to our table. We were the only customers in the place at the time."

Chauffeur's Version of Case.
"I jumped up and struck the fellow who stood nearest to me and tried to knock his pistol from his hand. He fired at me and I fell. The other two fellows began shooting immediately. I became dazed, and when I recovered
Grant was lying on his back behind his chair and Mrs. Grant was lying downward about three feet from where she had been sitting. She must have tried to get away."

"I went to work for the Grants two weeks ago. He was engaged in bootlegging deals here and in Chicago, and I assisted him. I believe he had business to attend to here today."

No attempt was made to rob Mr.
or Mrs. Grant or Stalnaker. Both men had money and jewelry and Mrs. Grant wore diamond rings, a diamond bracelet and a gold watch.
The manager of the roadhouse and two bartenders, who are held as Coroner's witnesses, said the slaying before opening fire on the Grants and Stalnaker, who resisted them, had held up the barroom and taken $50
from the cash register.

The automobile in which the Grants drove to the Inn, and which is in the custody of Sheriff Willmann of St. Louis County, bore a Missouri license, which was issued to Mrs. Rose Grant of 202 West Ninth street, Kansas City. She is not known at that address, which is a hotel.

The Grants formerly occupied an apartment at 2823 Michigan boulevard and a month ago began living at the Preston Hotel, Chicago, where, press dispatches from Chicago state, Mrs. Grant attracted attention by her display of fine gowns and jewelry. They have a son, 6 years old, who is held at a parochial school at Kankakee, Ill. Stalnaker's Chicago address is 2147 South
Trumbull avenue. He is 22.

The Coroner's inquest was postponed until tomorrow or Thursday to give the county officials and detectives opportunity to investigate the circumstances of the shooting.

Bankrupt Broker's Story of Part in Counterfeiting of $1,500,000 of Certificates of Morgan & Co. for French Bonds Introduced
as Evidence by State.

DUPE OF TURNER, DEFENSE CONTENTION

Halliday, on Stand, Repudiates Confession, Saying It Was Just a Jumble of Facts Given Him by Turner.

The signed confession of George V.
Halliday, bankrupt broker, in which he related in detail the plot and execution of the sensational counterfeiting
of $1,500,000 interim certificates
of J. P. Morgan & Co. for French Government gold bonds, was introduced as evidence by the State today in Halliday's trial. The hearing, before Circuit Judge Falkenhainer, is on a charge of forgery in the third degree.

The confession was admitted in evidence over the prolonged objections of Halliday's lawyer, Wayne Rely, who is now offering a defense to the effect that Halliday was the innocent dupe of Harry Turner, who was jointly charged with him when both were arrested on Thanksgiving
day, 1922.

Takes Responsibility.
In the signed confession, Halliday takes primary responsibility for the counterfeiting, saying that he conceived the plan, and that after it had been executed he negotiated $1
of the counterfeit with two banks for loans. He connects Turner with the affair throughout, charging that Turner knew the purpose of the undertaking and aided in various details of the work. Halliday said he and Turner were agreed that "no individual should suffer" by the bogus certificates, and that therefore they decided that the counterfeits should be placed as collateral to bank loans.

The confession is contrary not only to the plea which Halliday is now seeking to make in his own defense,
but to the defense in which Turner obtained acquittal on a forgery charge in the State criminal court here last May. Turner pleaded, at that time, that he was Halliday's dupe, and that, while he aided in some details, he had no knowledge of Halliday's criminal purpose.

Halliday Takes Stand.
Halliday took the stand in his own defense this afternoon and utterly repudiated the confession, and declared having had any connection with the forgery of the certificates. A defense demurrer to the State's case had been overruled when court convened after luncheon.

"That confession was just a jumble of facts that Turner gave me and that I in turn related to the Government officers," Halliday declared, on the stand. He asserted that the confession he had dictated had followed the lines of one he had written in pencil previously, but amplified.

Halliday started to make a long statement of his career, but the Judge cut this testimony short, urging the witness to get down to his relations with Turner. Halliday then declared that, after his arrest on another matter, he met Turner in a brokerage office and Turner told him he was trying to finance the Junior Players. He replied that he was negotiating with the late Frank
A. Ruf for help out of his difficulties.

He declared he told Turner he needed about $25,000 and that Turner agreed to and did give him $60 of the interim certificates. Halliday said he thought these certificates
were legitimate, but that a lawyer told him later they were spurious and that Turner then admitted to him that they were. Halliday declared Turner asked him to take the whole blame, saying, "You're under six embezzlement indictments anyway."

The defense rested at 2:55 and the Judge began to prepare his instructions.

(The case against Halliday was
The case against Halliday and Turner
was first in the Federal Court,
the charge being one of counterfeiting
the obligations of a foreign Government. Judge Faris ruled that the case was one for the State courts.

RHINELAND MOVEMENT REPORTED CHECKED

Berlin Dispatch Says That Separatists Have Been Defeated at Various Points, While London Is Advised Project for a Republic Lacks Leadership.

DUISBURG SAID TO BE HELD BY REPUBLICANS

Reports Indicate Extension of Movement in Other Quarters of Occupied Area—Number Injured in Clashes, Advises Say.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Oct. 23 (3:20 p. m.).—Reports from various points in the Rhineland this afternoon indicate the Separatists have been generally defeated, especially at Aix-la-Chapelle, Muenchen-Gladbach and Bonn. At Aix-la-Chapelle they were severely beaten up by the trades unionists and then ejected from the public buildings which they had been holding since midnight Saturday.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 23.—News received at the British Foreign Office today from the Rhineland area was to the effect that the separatist movement was lacking in direction and coherence. The view prevails here that the disaffection in the Rhineland will collapse at the slightest show of firmness from French or Belgian troops.

Seven Injured at Muenchen-Gladbach Station.
By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, Oct. 23.—The Mayor of Muenchen-Gladbach, according to the correspondent of the Vingtieme Siecle, held out against the Separatists for 24 hours, by locking himself and 175 police in the city hall and chaining and padlocking the gates. He finally surrendered when the Separatists threatened to use force to enter the building.

Disorders occurred later at the railway station, where the Separatists charged and dispersed. Loyalist demonstrators, the trouble started when a truckload of Republican guards arrived at the Government building. Shots were fired at them by a group of Security police, who had been hidden behind a crowd of students. Reinforcements came to the aid of the Republican guards and the rioting continued until two Belgian officers interfered and summoned Belgian troops. Six of the Separatists and one Security policeman were injured.

The Rhineland republican movement was extended in some quarters of the occupied area today, but seemed to be receding in the districts first affected.

The most important new accession of the Separatists was Duisburg, in the Ruhr, where according to a Belgian official message, the republic was proclaimed early today and the public buildings occupied.

Dr. Hans A. Dorten, leader of the previous Separatist movement, seems to have thrown in his lot with the proponents of the present venture.

Separatists Said to Have Occupied Bonn.
By the Associated Press.
COBLENZ, Oct. 23.—The Rhineland Separatists are reported here to have occupied Bonn at 1 o'clock this morning. It is uncertain whether they retained possession of the town, as the latest information at noon was that the Republicans had clashed with the police and that the city authorities had called upon the French troops to restore order.

The German police were said to be patrolling the town, but whether under Separatist or loyal direction was not clear.

Coblenz awoke in the expectation that it would be occupied by the Republicans today and that Joseph Matthes, generally regarded as the

TWO BRITISH WOMEN IN PITIFUL PLIGHT IN CHINA

Missionaries, Kidnaped Last Month by Bandits, Dragged Thinly Clad From Place to Place in Mountains.

By the Associated Press.
PEKING, Oct. 23.—The pitiful plight of two British missionaries, the Misses Mary Darroch of Glasgow, Scotland, and Mary R. Sharp of Milkeep, South Australia, who were captured by bandits in Honan province last month and are being held in the mountain strongholds of the outlaws, is described in dispatches from Kaifeng.

F. S. Joyce, another missionary, who has been trailing the bandits in the hope of obtaining the release of the women, reported that he has just interviewed a messenger from the bandits, who told of the extreme hardships undergone by them since their capture. He said they had been dragged from place to place in the mountainous country of Honan and were clad only in thin, ragged garments. The captives' messenger stated, are given but little to eat.

The messenger said that the leader of the bandits sent him out for urgent necessities, giving him money to purchase them. Joyce said he was assembling these supplies in the hope of relieving the suffering of the captives.

Reports from Honan indicate utter lack of official co-operation in the efforts to rescue the women. Troops had the bandits surrounded Oct. 1, but after three days allowed them to escape. Ten days later the outlaws clashed with other troops, but were short of ammunition and fled after a brief skirmish.

The outlaws are said to number about 1000 and are demanding enrollment in the Chinese army before they release their prisoners. Gen. Wu Pei-fu, head of the Government forces in Honan, has thus far refused to negotiate with the bandits.

Believes the Rhineland populace will succeed in defeating the plans of the secessionists.

CITY ART MUSEUM RETURNS 40 GIFTS OF RUF WIDOW

merit in order to hang Mrs. Ruf's paintings forever. Such a policy would retard the development of the museum and prevent the maintenance of standards of excellence which were endeavoring to establish. The museum is at all times willing to accept, without conditions, such objects as the board may select. Scarcely a week passes but we are offered objects which are unrelated to our collections or of such character as to render them unsuitable for inclusion in our collections.

Treated With Courtesy.
As Mrs. Ruf has the right of selection under the will, and, therefore, the right to claim any and all objects we have selected, and as she has requested the return of all objects we have selected, we are left no alternative but to comply with her request, which was made on Monday. Her statement that we intended to dispose of the objects is unwarranted.

Mrs. Ruf was treated with courtesy and is not justified in making any statement to the contrary. She is, likewise, mistaken in stating that we did not desire gifts.

When this explanation was conveyed to Mrs. Ruf she replied as follows:

"I see that Mr. Sherer has very grand ideas. In fact I gathered that from his conversation with me. He said the Museum had an income of about $250,000 a year with which to buy art objects and that really, it didn't matter whether anyone donated or not. I do not think such grandeur is justified. He has paintings hung in his museum that I wouldn't want in my house. I know something about pictures, too."

The Art Museum is supported by a division of the general property tax amounting to 2 cents on the $100 valuation and in addition receives a share of the merchants' and manufacturers' tax. Last year the Museum received $220,515.37 as its share of the general tax and about $35,000 from the special levy.

Mrs. Ruf, commenting on the manner in which St. Louis art critics have appraised the Ruf collection, said:

"Mr. Ruf never claimed that all his paintings were done by old masters. He made no claims whatever. But he authoritatively established that the two Murills he bequeathed to the St. Louis Catholic Cathedral were genuine."

These pictures are entitled "The Stigmata of St. Francis" and "The Vision of St. Anthony." Although are encyclopedias state the originals are hanging in Cadix and Seville, Spain, Mrs. Ruf asserts that her husband bought the real masters.

It is not the general policy of the museum to sell donations, Sherer said, only once during his directorship has such a thing been done and then only a few objects from a large collection were sold. The money was credited to the donor's name and used to purchase more worthy material.

The Ruf collection, most of which is in 1624 Pine street, consists of about 500 pictures and 300 rugs.

COOLIDGE QUIETLY ORDERS 'POLITICAL PRISONER' FREED OFFICIAL BRITAIN IN TWO MINDS OVER SEPARATION MOVE

President Makes Release of Mexican Passed Over by Harding Conditional on Deportation.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—It has just become known outside the official circles directly concerned that President Coolidge yesterday commuted the sentence of Ricardo Flores Magon, a Mexican, one of the men generally listed in the "political prisoner" class, on condition that he be immediately deported to Mexico.

No public announcement of the President's action in the Rivera case—the first definite action he has taken in response to the widespread call for the release of espionage act offenders—was made, either at the Department of Justice or the White House. The order for Rivera's release was signed Oct. 2 and went to the Department of Labor, which has charge of deportation proceedings.

At the Department of Justice today, it was learned through inquiries that the President acted in response to a request of the Mexican Government submitted through the State Department. The release was described as an "act of comity" in international relations.

Delay in Releasing Him.
Notwithstanding three weeks have elapsed since the commutation order Rivera is still detained at Leavenworth. The delay in letting him go was explained by the Immigration Bureau of the Department of Labor as due to the necessity of preparing deportation papers and getting the permission of the Government of Mexico for Rivera to enter that country. This permission, it was added, had been given and all other arrangements for his departure completed. It was said that the deportation process probably would be completed in a few days.

The Rivera case was fully reviewed in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Oct. 21, in the series of articles urging amnesty for free speech prisoners.

History of the Case.
Rivera sought refuge in this country after he had fallen afoul of the Diaz autocracy in Mexico. He was arrested during the war for the publication of a "manifesto" in a small Spanish language newspaper which he and a Mexican associate Ricardo Flores Magon, edited at Los Angeles. Though this statement—a general indictment of the capitalist system of government—was printed in a foreign language in a newspaper of admittedly small circulation, and though it contained no reference to the war of the United States against Germany, it was held to have been calculated to discourage recruiting Rivera was sentenced to 15 years and Magon to 20.

The present Mexican Government repeatedly sought the release of both men, but was unable, prior to the recent action by President Coolidge, to make headway against the contention of the Department of Justice that they were "dangerous anarchists" and that to release them, even for deportation to Mexico, was to invite trouble.

The Mexican Congress went to the extent of voting the prisoners $12 day during their prison terms. They declined to accept. Special efforts were made on Magon's behalf because of impending blindness in both his eyes, as well as his illness from consumption. Attorney General Daugherty, citing an affidavit of the prison physician that the health of the prisoner was satisfactory, declined to recommend clemency.

Magon Died in Prison.
Magon died of pneumonia a year ago. The Chamber of Deputies of Mexico was draped in black, and the arrival of Magon's body in Mexico City was made the occasion of a public demonstration in his honor. The Congress voted a pension to his widow.

Through the Embassy here, the Mexican Government continued to press for Rivera's release, saying it would be very glad to have him back in his own country. Evidently, it took no stock in the argument that he was "dangerous."

Rivera was passed over by President Harding when he issued his conditional commutation order of last June, and amnesty workers were given to understand at the Department of Justice that he probably would be the last of the political prisoners out. They were greatly surprised therefore to learn of President Coolidge's order.

Rejoice at Dilemma Foreseen for Poincare—Fear British Troops May Be Involved in Fighting.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON.
London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—British officialdom alternates between fear and pleasure over the latest developments in the German crisis—fear lest the separatist movement spread into the British Cologne area and involve British troops, and pleasure at the dilemma in which the forthcoming German reparations proposals are expected to place Premier Poincare.

The British object strenuously to a Rhine republic, which, it is perceived, is clearly of French inception. They may, however, because of fear of complications, decline to resist by force of arms any rising at Cologne, on the ground that the sequel of such a policy, if France supports the separatists, must be a conflict with France or an ignominious withdrawal of the British Rhine army.

Turning to the new reparations plan, the situation is regarded here as shaping toward realization of the British policy, though there is a disposition in view of the state of Germany, to regard any discussion as having come too late to have any effect. Germany is understood to accept the Belgian reparations plan in principle, although with modifications.

The British and Italian Governments have instructed their representatives on the commission to press for an examination of this plan, and Belgium, determined on action at last, has declared that she will vote for a discussion, provided this is confined to the Aisne.

Unless Premier Poincare is able to compel the Belgians to change their minds, France will be in a minority of one against three on the reparations commission in refusing to accept deliveries in kind as resumed from the Ruhr. There is much curiosity as to the attitude France will take if outvoted on this point.

Among business interests there is much anxiety because of the Rhine developments and the prospect that the whole heart of the German industrial system will be taken over by France. The thought of France working the Ruhr coke ovens together with the Lorraine iron mines gives rise to visions of a great French metallurgical trust that will destroy the British steel trade.

attested a bribe to prevent the Governor from vetoing an appropriation for the Tonkawa preparatory school, Dr. Bynum declared that Jim Scott had offered to pay Blake if he would influence the Governor to permit the appropriation to stand. Scott was not identified.

Says Inquiry Was Refused.
Dr. Bynum said that the Governor had asked him to put Scott on the payroll of the Bank Department, and upon his refusal, Scott charged Bynum with receiving part of the alleged bribe. The witness said he then went to the Governor with a request that the whole matter be investigated, but that the executive refused to take any action.

The witness said that altogether he had collected $3000 for the Governor since his election. He told the committee members that when he was called on to make collections he had warned the executive that grand jury or legislative investigation might follow and that the Governor told him that "other men can forget" and therewith relieved him from such duties.

Dr. Bynum declared that an unidentified Muskogean man had offered to contribute $5000 if he could name a member to the State Board of Affairs. The testimony indicated that the offer had not been accepted.

The prediction was made freely that the House will vote overwhelmingly to press some, if not all, of the charges against Gov. Walton, thus bringing them before the Senate, which first would pass upon their admissibility before organizing as a trial body.

All of the 22 specific charges contained in the House bill of impeachment, reported yesterday, will be voted on separately, any being adequate ground upon which to bring the Governor to trial. It appeared that Gov. Walton would be suspended from office during the period of his trial if any of the charges are sustained by the House. The Senate already has made known it will move to disqualify him if this is done.

Blake's Testimony Read.
Before adjournment yesterday the testimony of Aldrich Blake, former Executive Counselor, before the investigating committee had been read. Blake, whose removal from office just after the Legislature went into session fur-

WAY FOUND TO LOCATE TUMORS PRESSING ON SPINAL MARROW

Two Reports of Seeming Cures of Heretofore Invariably Fatal Disease Made as Result.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Oct. 23.—Two reports of securing cures of what has been considered hitherto an incurable disease were presented lately to the Society of Neurology of Paris.

Tumors pressing on the spinal marrow have invariably proved fatal owing to the difficulty of diagnosing them and of locating them. Prof. Sicard has introduced a method of injecting iodized oil into the bony canal formed by the vertebrae of the spine, which enable an x-ray to be taken showing where the iodide has been deposited and where the deposit has been interrupted by the tumor. The exact spot for operating is thus seen.

The application of this method is described as delicate, but not extremely difficult, nor beyond the power of any good surgeon.

Asked what influence he had with Gov. Walton at the time of the various martial law proclamations, Blake answered that he only had been ordered to draw the proclamations.

Concerning military rule in Tulsa County, Blake told the committee the Governor ordered martial law there in a long-distance telephone conversation from Sulphur. He had called, Blake declared, to inquire as to some minor matters.

Quotes Governor.
A recent victim of a flogging in Tulsa was in Blake's office at the time, the former executive counselor said, and when Blake informed the executive that the man had exhibited a badly beaten body, the Governor was quoted as saying:

"Well, just put Tulsa County under military rule."

Blake said he protested, but to no avail.

Records of the hundreds of secret service commissions issued by Gov. Walton were kept for a while in the Tulsa County office, but they finally became so numerous that the Governor ordered a thousand additional blank forms printed, which required only a notary's attestation, testimony set out. Blake said he did not know the exact number of commissions issued.

ST. CHARLES SCHOOL HEAD ADMITS HE SOLD CERTIFICATES

County Superintendent B. H. Jolly Says He Regarded Fee He Received as Clerical Compensation.

R. H. Jolly, superintendent of Public Schools of St. Charles County, Mo., told the Post-Dispatch today that he had made a statement admitting that he had supplied high school certificates to numerous persons brought to him by Dr. Robert Adcox of St. Louis, in order that they might become enrolled as students of medical colleges.

He was unable, he said, to recall the number of certificates that he had supplied and was not prepared to say whether it was a considerable number.

The impression he received from Dr. Adcox, he said, was that the young men brought to him had taken high school work and possessed the requisite qualifications, but had, unfortunately, not graduated.

He had accepted fees for the certificates, which he thought had averaged $5 apiece. He understood that was the regulation fee for that kind of work. The fee he received was not regarded by him as compensation for any improper service, but for the clerical work involved in making out the certificates.

Jolly has been Superintendent of Schools since 1915, when he was appointed to fill an unexpired term. He was re-elected in 1918 and again in 1922. His salary is $1100 a year, but there are certain fees which increase his income.

Name Found in Sachs' Papers.
Jolly's name was supplied to the authorities by Prof. William W. Sachs of University City, and verification of his connection with the issuance of certificates was obtained among papers found in Dr. Adcox's home.

Dr. Adcox, who is 63 years old and lives at 4414 Delmar boulevard, is under charges of grand larceny and forgery in connection with supplying a fraudulent medical diploma to a reporter for the St. Louis Star.

William W. Jolly, Jolly's attorney, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that he understood from the affidavit submitted by the superintendent that an affidavit purporting to be that of someone who had examined the student in the high school studies had been presented in each instance where a certificate was issued and that Jolly in no case had made an affidavit. Wayne said that he knew that in many cases affidavits were even presented. He said the superintendent never had any idea what Adcox's purpose was. Jolly did not falsify any records, Wayne said.

Hyde Plans to Investigate Case.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 23.—Gov. Hyde declared today that he would investigate the case of H. Jolly, Superintendent of Public Schools of St. Charles County, who does not know whether the Governor has authority to oust the County Superintendent in fact. I doubt it, I have," the Governor said. "However, I will start investigation at once. If I have not the power and the State Superintendent of Schools has, I will ask that official to start."

Woman Says She Gave Chiropractor Lessons But No Diploma.
Miss Florence Baars and L. Strecker of 5015 Ridge avenue, alleged to have given lessons in chiropractic to Harry Brundige, reporter for the Star, in connection with the purchase of a chiropractor's diploma, were questioned today by prosecuting Attorney Schweitzer.

Miss Baars said she gave lessons of the doctor held in connection with the issuance of a fraudulent medical diploma to Brundige under the name of Thomas Strecker, a patient in these delusions. It was represented that Brundige was a medical student who wished to know something of chiropractic. He paid her $25 for lessons, but she gave him no diploma and knew nothing further about the case.

The test of George V. Halliday's motion, made Nov. 23, 1921, as presented in evidence in his trial today, is as follows:

"My name is George V. Halliday. I was born April 10, 1901, at St. Louis, Mo. I am a business man. I am in the firm of V. Halliday & Co. We were very much involved and I realized that I obtained financial assistance from some quarter the business had to have to be terminated, and the loss of a great deal of money was being done. As financial assistance was almost impossible to obtain, I cast around for what could be done in the premises for what could be done to get money in order to attempt to get the business in the hope that matters could be ultimately straightened out. I conceived the idea of duplicating one of the many bonds of the French Government 7 1/2 per cent gold bond, which was on the market one after the other in such a way that the duplicates could be passed for the originals."

Decided on French Issue.
"I decided upon the particular issue of the French Government 7 1/2 per cent gold bond, which was on the market in the latter part of May, 1921, because I had seen in the papers a notice that the French Government had issued a new issue of bonds, and I realized that the reason that the interim receipt bore a six months' interest upon, which led me to believe the interim receipt would be outstanding very close to a year."

To explain the connection of the interim receipts, I wish to bring to the fact that the engraving of a coupon bond to be used as collateral required a tremendous amount of work and time. Owing to the fact that when an issue of bonds was brought out on the market and the sale price for these bonds was high, it was very difficult to get the bonds to the purchaser, the use of the interim receipt became universal. These receipts were, in substance, a statement that the house of issue had issued a very crude form of interim receipt, such as, no doubt, some familiar with engraving and printing could turn out with little difficulty. It was owing to this crude form of interim receipt that the idea seemed simple to me at that time."

Tried of Making Inquiries.
"I obtained one of the French Government 7 1/2 per cent interim receipts and examined it very closely, finding of two local printing houses—Lambert, Deacon & Hall and the San-Dei—whether it was an engraving job or a stock order, or a coupon bond. Finding that it was a special steel engraving job, I set out to find where this work could be done, and consulted with Harry Bynum in connection with the work which was between June 20th and Oct. 1st."

"Mr. Turner took the sample which I had of a $500 piece of the French Government 7 1/2 per cent interim receipt, leaving my office and stating that he was going to the Von Hoffman printing shop, to ask Mr. Hoffman's opinion as to what character of work it was. He later returned, bringing the bond with him, and stating that Mr. von Hoffman, after consulting his superintendent, advised that it was a steel engraving job, but refused to have anything to do with printing or engraving such a job, owing to any reflection which might at a later date be cast upon him. Mr. Turner, however, stated that a little firm known as the National Steel Engraving Co. was printing in connection with any such matter. I do not know whether Mr. von Hoffman was consulted regarding a possible duplication or not."

"Called at Turner's House."
"After this occurrence I called at Mr. Turner's house, and we went over the matter thoroughly, discussing whether or not a perfect imitation could be made, and the relative risk attached to the making and distribution of such a thing. We decided that the interim receipts could be made if an engraver could be found who could do the work, and that there would be difficulty in making an imitation sufficiently perfect to pass any test of experts in the home office of the French Government."

"Then, after consulting with a personal call, certain engraving shops, found that the National Steel Engraving Co. had a machine (which by the way, was one of the few in existence) with which the background of the receipt could be duplicated. Mr. Turner called the National Steel Engraving Co. on the telephone and engaged for their salesman to call on him."

I also have eaten a plug of tobacco, some bark and some of my shoe. I think my time has come. You know what my property is. We worked for it together and it is all yours. This is my will, and you must keep it. You have been a good wife. May the Holy Virgin guard you."

In many respects this is one of the most remarkable wills in the English language.

Wills, after all, are the most human of documents. The grace with which we part with life's holdings shows the heart in its least disguised form.

Too many await the approach of death to conceive this important instrument.

It is astonishing the number of people who, from indolence, procrastination or superstition, postpone this needful act until the last.

A will is a legal instrument—a technical matter—the most solemn and consequential act of man, and should be considered today—not tomorrow.

"Some Practical Suggestions on Will-Writing", a booklet, sent free, will tell you more about this important subject.

MEININGER'S 'CASH ITEMS' TRACED AT HOHENSCHILD TRIAL

Bookkeeper of Night and Day Bank Tells How They Increased to $754,000 When Bank Was Closed.

(By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.)

JOPLIN, Oct. 22.—Through the testimony today of Frank L. Schneider, general bookkeeper of the defunct Night and Day Bank of St. Louis, Circuit Attorney Sidener endeavored step by step to make a case against Henry H. Hohenschild, president of the institution, charged in seven indictments with assenting to the reception of deposits after the bank was in a failing condition.

Sidener's effort is to prove guilty knowledge upon the part of Hohenschild, to prove that Hohenschild knew for nearly a year before Jan. 6, 1932—the day the bank was closed by the State Finance Commissioner with a loss of $1,000,000 to stockholders and depositors—that the bank was insolvent. He contends Hohenschild was in active charge of the bank, that its books showed its condition and Hohenschild must have known it.

Admits He Altered Records.

Schneider today testified for the first time on direct examination that he had altered the bank's records on instructions from Meininger to show a condition which was not correct. He made the statement frankly, going into minute details. The effect of this is to put Schneider in the position of admitting his part in aiding Meininger, the admission coming in the form of a willing statement, rather than an unwilling statement dragged from him on cross-examination, as in the first trial of Hohenschild last December. Schneider testified that Dec. 17, 1931, two days before the time for the annual stockholders' examination of the bank, A. O. Meininger instructed him to change the cash and cash item account to deduct from the amount carried on the books $558,058.68 and to add that amount to the record of $104,425.04 which the Night and Day Bank had on deposit with the American Trust Co. to make it appear that the amount due from the American Trust Co. was $672,983.69.

This, Schneider said, made the record of cash items only $231,770.04. In all $754,000 was transferred on the daily cash book to show deposits in other banks. The books were changed back after the stockholders' examination. It was shown by Schneider's testimony that the record of the State Treasurer's deposit of $262,000 was destroyed by Meininger and that afterward, when the treasurer would draw a check on his account the check would be paid and the amount carried as a cash item.

Former Examiner to Testify.

Former State Bank Examiner Virgil D. Wall, who examined the Night and Day Bank in September, 1930, and on whose report was based former Bank Commissioner, Enright's criticism of the bank's condition used in the indictment, arrived this morning to testify for the State. Sidener expects Wall to testify that he directed the attention of Hohenschild and the directors to the condition of the bank. It is mainly through his testimony that the State hopes to connect Hohenschild with knowledge of the bank's condition more than a year before it was closed.

Schneider, the first witness, was placed on the stand at 4:15 p. m. yesterday and today resumed his testimony.

Cash Item Account Traced.
Under examination by Assistant Circuit Attorney Garstang, Schneider traced the "cash item" account, which was used by A. O. Meininger, the cashier, to loot the bank, showing a steadily increasing list of "cash items" up to the amount of $754,000, the amount carried at the time the bank closed its doors.

P. H. Cullen, chief counsel for the defense, contested every inch of the way, offering objection after objection to Garstang's method of examination of Schneider. Cullen attempted to prevent Schneider from explaining the various "cash item" entries. He was sustained by Judge Emerson in some of his objections, but in the main Schneider was permitted to develop the line of evidence Garstang sought to bring out. The questioning was in point with Sidener's opening statement, in which he said he would prove that the bank was insolvent for more than a year before it was closed. Beginning with entries on the bank's books on Aug. 27, 1930, Schneider testified that on that date the cash and "cash items" shown by the journal were $431,482.35, of which he said $202,571.66 was "cash items" and $228,910.69 was cash.

Tells How Items Were Handled.
Less than a month later, Sept. 20, 1930, he testified, the cash shown was $259,491.02, with no showing of "cash items." Schneider testified that at Meininger's direction the "cash items" were charged to the individual accounts and the "cash items" list wiped out. This, he testified, was done on the day State Bank Examiner Wall arrived at the bank to examine it, and the action made the bank's condition appear more satisfactory.

From that time, according to Schneider's testimony, the "cash items" list was wiped out. This, he testified, was done on the day State Bank Examiner Wall arrived at the bank to examine it, and the action made the bank's condition appear more satisfactory.

WIZARD POLISH

unusual furniture polish

keeps varnish alive

Wizard chemists have discovered an extraordinary fact that has revolutionized the making of furniture polish—that varnish needs to be fed with certain oils to be kept "alive," resilient and lustrous. Ordinary polish does not feed the varnish on furniture and floors. It becomes dry, brittle and "dead."

Now you can have Wizard polish that will not only give your furniture a more beautiful and velvety finish, but will absolutely prevent all checking and cracking. Wizard cannot leave any gumminess or greasy oil behind. It is so graceless, in fact, that it is wonderful to clean windows. Try it.

Item" account was gradually increased and on Dec. 17, 1920, the total of cash and "cash items" was $328,736.43; on Feb. 28, 1921, the total was $408,195.46, of which $75,000 was paid out to the State Treasurer on his account, the record of the account having been destroyed. A few days later, March 4, the total of cash and "cash items" had increased to $509,112.35, of which $125,000 was in "cash items," an additional $50,000 having been paid out to the State Treasurer and the amount carried as a "cash item."

On March 25, 1921, the total was $383,348.91, of which $138,404.70 was "cash items."

The following day the "cash items" had been increased $89,373.20 to a total of $297,782.90; by April 1 there was a further increase of $77,666.74, a total of $285,450.64; by April 6 there was a further increase of $35,138.85 to a total of $320,589.49; by April 26 there was a further increase of $10,000 to a total of $330,589.49.

How "Cash Items" Fluctuated.

May 4, 1921, the cash items were reduced $10,000 to $320,589.49, the following day they were increased $30,000 to $350,589.49, which represented a check drawn by the State Treasurer paid by the bank and carried as a cash item. May 19 the cash items increased $15,000 to $365,589.49. June 2 they increased $10,000, to $375,589.49. June 7 they increased $30,000, to $405,589.49, also a check of the State Treasurer. June 24 they increased $15,000, to $420,589.49; July 2 they decreased $3,464.22 to $417,125.18. July 5 they decreased $1084.16 to $416,041.02. July 7 they increased $12,500 to $428,541.02. July 25 they increased $25,000 to $453,541.02. Aug. 2 they jumped $40,292.02 to $493,833.04, which, Schneider said, represented the amount of a check drawn by the State Treasurer, paid by the bank and carried as a cash item. Aug. 13 they increased $2500 to $496,333.04. Oct. 29 they increased $2500 to $498,833.04.

Schneider testified that the day following Meininger's disappearance, which was the day before the bank closed, Hohenschild took him to former Gov. Major's office, where several directors of the bank were gathered.

Major, he said, asked him if there was anything wrong at the bank, and he replied that "if there is anything wrong it is in the $754,000 of cash items."

Vital Point in Case.

The defense contended that Schneider told the directors of only $171,000 of cash items, this question being of vital importance in the case for the reason that $174,000 of erroneous cash items would not mean insolvency of the bank, while $754,000 would. It is the State's contention that the directors knew of the larger amount and yet permitted the bank to continue receiving deposits. It is the contention of the defense that they did not learn the full amount until long after the bank had closed for the night.

Schneider further testified that after he gave the information to the directors he was instructed by Major to return to his work at the bank and "keep his mouth shut."

On completion of the direct examination of Schneider, Harry Cook of 4710 Page boulevard, manager of the Business Men's Gymnasium, whose deposit of $140 on Jan. 5, the night before the bank closed, is the technical basis of the indictment on which Hohenschild is being tried, was placed on the stand to testify to the fact that he made the deposit.

The cross-examination of Schneider was then begun by Cullen. Schneider admitted he never had told Hohenschild of the cash items.

Schneider Cross-Examined.

At the beginning of the afternoon cross-examination of Schneider, Cullen attempted to induce the witness to admit that he had no knowledge that there were $754,000 of cash items at the time he testified he told Hohenschild. Major and the other directors that was the figure. Schneider insisted he had the knowledge and conveyed it to the directors. In an effort to discredit Schneider's testimony Cullen subjected the witness to a grilling cross-examination, asking him time after time if he had not knowingly made entries he knew were false, calling particular attention to the State Treasurer's drafts which he had testified were carried as cash items.

Schneider said he had no knowledge except that Meininger instructed him to make the entries, but, under repeated examination, finally said he was satisfied in his own mind that Meininger was instructing him to make false entries.

Admits Falsifying Records.

Responding to a question as to when he began falsifying the record of the bank, Schneider fixed the time as Dec. 17, 1921, the date he transferred the $754,000 from the cash item account in advance of the stockholders' examination of the bank. Cullen tried again and again to bring an admission that he knowingly made false entries as early as September, 1920, when State bank examiners were examining the bank, but Schneider persisted in statements that he had no knowledge of a falsity of entries at that time.

At that time the cash items amounted to $202,571.66, which, on Meininger's instruction, were charged to individual accounts, and $25,375 was charged to the loan and discount account. Schneider said he could not say whether the amount charged to loans and discounts was a false entry.

$200,000 Fire in Duluth, Minn.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 23.—The plant of the Cutler-Magner Co., dealers in salt, lime and cement, was destroyed by fire here this afternoon. The loss is estimated at $200,000.

Elgin Watches will be at a premium this fall

THE new Elgin wing at Elgin, Illinois, is now completed. It will unquestionably be in operation before the end of 1924.

Some additional watches in certain models will be provided, possibly for the holidays — but there will still be a shortage of Elgins for the balance of 1923 and throughout the following year.

You may wonder why there are not enough Elgins, when there seem to be all the watches for sale every body needs in general.

It all comes back to the Elgin professional attitude—the very opposite of the factory-made idea.

Elgin watches have wide national distribution. But, within the walls that house the Elgin watchmakers the scientific spirit dominates.

There are other symptoms: headache, for instance, and shortness of breath, hot flashes, nervousness and lack of appetite, but these quickly disappear after a few days' treatment with Norma.

This prescription is called Norma because it will reduce high blood pressure to normal, and it can be taken with every assurance of success. Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Enderle and Johnson Bros. ## E. R. THOMAS, BROKER, SUE BY SECOND WIFE

Served With Papers in Separation Action—Vale to Appear for Examination.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—For the second time since he first set sail in the sea of matrimony, Edward R. Thomas, millionaire broker, sportsman, publisher and former banker, is sighting storm clouds.

Yesterday he was served with a summons in a suit for separation brought by his second wife. At the same time his valet, Harry Read, was served with a subpoena directing him to appear in the Supreme Court for examination, Jan. 17, 1924.

Thomas' first wife was Miss Linda Lee, daughter of a Louisville banker. Following their marriage in 1901 she became prominent in society here, in Newport, and in the South and was known as "America's most beautiful woman." She obtained a divorce in this city in October, 1912, and was permitted to resume her maiden name, but chose to be known as Mrs. Lee Thomas. In 1917 she was married to Lee Porter, American composer of popular music, in Paris. Thomas was forbidden by the terms of his first wife's divorce to remarry in this State during her lifetime, but a few days after she obtained her final decree Thomas went to Newport and married Miss Elizabeth Rebecca Finley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Finley of this city.

Thomas is the son of Gen. Samuel Thomas and his sister, Mrs. Eleanor T. Beckman, is the wife of a former Governor of Rhode Island.

ARKANSAS PRISON WARDEN FINED $500 FOR CONTEMPT

Result of Recent Action in Refusing to Accept 6 Negroes Convicted of Rioting at Elaine in 1919.

By the Associated Press.
HIXSON, Ark., Oct. 23.—Hamp Martin, Warden of the Arkansas penitentiary, was adjudged in contempt of court and fined $500 yesterday by Judge L. D. Robertson of the Lee County Court, because of the recent refusal of the Warden to accept six negroes alleged to have been implicated in the uprising at Elaine in 1919, from the sheriff of Lee County.

Prior to the delivery of the negroes at the "walls" of the State prison several months ago, the State Supreme Court ruled that the murder but in each instance granted new trials, could not then be retried because provisions of a State law requiring that such re-trials be held within two court terms after action by the higher court had not been complied with.

When this ruling was announced the Lee County sheriff took the negroes to Little Rock with the intention of giving them over to the custody of penitentiary officials but the Warden held he was without authority to accept them. As a result the negroes were given their liberty at the prison walls without further court procedure.

INSURANCE ON SLAYER, UNDER DEATH SENTENCE, CANCELLED

Company to Contest Payment of $53,000 Policy on Life of Alex Kels.

By the Associated Press.
STOCKTON, Cal., Oct. 23.—Notice has been served on Alex Kels, condemned to hang at Folsom, Jan. 4, and on Mrs. Kels, that the New York Life Insurance Co. has cancelled a $53,000 life insurance policy, on the ground that it was obtained by fraud. Announcement of this was made here by E. P. Foltz, attorney, retained by the insurance company to contest payment if Kels is hanged.

The notice to Mrs. Kels was served at her home in Lodi, although, owing to her condition, it is understood that the paper is being kept from her by relatives.

Kels pleaded guilty to the murder of a stranger in the expectation that the dead man would be identified as Kels and the insurance paid to his wife.

There was some question whether the insurance would be paid after Kels died on the gallows.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR NEGRO

Found Guilty by Jury in Five Minutes of Attacking White Woman.

By the Associated Press.
JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Oct. 23. John Guise, negro, who went on trial at Bakersville, N. C., yesterday on a charge of attacking a white woman, was found guilty after five minutes' deliberation by the jury and was sentenced to death by electrocution on Nov. 26, according to word received here from Bakersville.

The attack on the woman precipitated a racial disturbance at Siler's Pine, N. C., last month and about 200 negroes were deported from the town and its vicinity by the white citizens. Troops were ordered there by Gov. Morrison of North Carolina, and remained on duty for 10 days before order had been restored.

Decision in Express Case.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Express companies are not liable for the actual value of the contents of a package shipped in interstate commerce when the shipper has accepted a receipt in which a lower liability was stated. The Supreme Court so decided in a case brought by the American Railway Express Co. against Lucius P. Levey, involving shipment of a trunk from Madisonville, Tex. to Thibodaux, La.

BALDWIN TO PROPOSE PROTECTIVE TARIFF

Suggestion of Premier Likely to Result in General Election in England Soon.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Oct. 23.—Great Britain soon will be preparing for another general election, if intimations in today's newspapers are reliable.
In a speech to be delivered at the Unionists' party conference at Plymouth on Thursday, Prime Minister Baldwin, according to the Daily Express, is expected to propose the all-around protection of British industries by a scientific tariff. It is not anticipated that he will suggest a tax on imported wheat or meat, but rather that the revenue from a tariff on imported manufactures be applied to subsidizing the Dominions in the production of meat, wheat and cotton.
The Unionist conference is expected to have unusual importance, for the conservatives for some time have been showing signs of restlessness at Baldwin's long silence on administration policies.
Behind the party's keen interest over these phases is keen anxiety over the campaign the Socialists are conducting throughout the country. The anti-Socialist newspapers do not conceal their anxiety at the manner in which Socialists' destinies are being broadcast everywhere.

SMALL COMMUTES TERMS OF TWO WITNESSES IN HIS CASE

Frees Chicago Labor Leader and Another Who Refuse to Testify in Jury-Fixing Investigation.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 23.—Michael J. Boyle, Chicago labor leader, and Ben Newmark were released from the Lake County jail last night when commutations of their six months jail sentences for contempt of court, granted by Gov. Small, were delivered to Sheriff Ahlstrom.
Newmark had served 50 days and Boyle 22 days of the sentence which had been imposed on account of their failure to answer questions to the grand jury investigating charges of attempted jury fixing in the trial and acquittal of Gov. Small on a conspiracy charge last year.
A writ of mandamus for their reincarceration will be filed before the Supreme Court in December, A. V. Smith, State's Attorney for Lake County said. He said the action of the Governor was illegal.
Gov. Small said he had commuted the sentences because both men had been punished in furtherance of a political conspiracy to discredit the Governor and discredit his administration.
"It is the opinion of the Governor," his statement read, "that beyond all reasonable doubt this action would not have been instituted had the matter before the court been free from politics and it had not been to further such a conspiracy. Therefore no punishment should have been inflicted. It was a miscarriage of justice."

OAKLAND OPERATING BUSES IN FIGHT ON ONE-MAN STREET CARS

Penalties Against Service Autos Using Main Streets Also Dropped From Ordinance.
By the Associated Press.
OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 23.—The municipality of Oakland yesterday entered upon an avowed campaign to "put the one-man street cars out of business." Big city-owned motor buses appeared in front of the city hall with the announcement that they would take passengers anywhere a one-man street car would take them, and for 1 cent less fare.
In addition, the penalties against jitney buses using the main streets were dropped from the jitney ordinance.
The city recently ordered the one-man street cars off the streets on the ground that they were undesirable. The street car company replied it had the sanction of the State Railroad Commission to run the cars and would continue to do so. The city thereupon decided to resort to automobile bus competition.

DISORDERS AT CHANGSHA, CHINA

Consuls and other foreigners Take Refuge on U. S. Gunboats.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.
(Copyright, 1923.)
SHANGHAI, Oct. 23.—Disorders in Huan have forced the Consuls at Changsha, capital of the province, and other foreigners able to reach the city to take refuge aboard American gunboats anchored in mid-stream. The fate of those in the interior of the province is not known.
Rear Admiral Phelps, U. S. N., has ordered a gunboat from Hankow to ascend the Siang River, anticipating danger to the foreign population.
Today's reports from Hankow state that the fighting has culminated in an attack on Changsha in the course of which an attempt was made to capture the Japanese steamer Taiyang Maru. The steamer's crew resisted, killing 50 of the attackers.

8000 MOSLEMS TRANSFERRED

(From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World and the Chicago Daily News.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 23.—The island of Mitylene is now empty of Moslems, the whole 8000 Moslem inhabitants having been transferred to Anatolia. The American Committee of four, which supervised the movement, has left for Samsoun to move to Greece 6000 Greeks from among the 20,000 awaiting there.

MEDICAL LICENSE EXAMINATIONS IN MISSOURI HALTED

State Board of Health to Hold No More Tests Until Educational Conditions Have Been Investigated.

The Missouri State Board of Health will hold no more examinations of applicants for licenses to practice medicine until a thorough investigation of medical educational conditions in Missouri has been made.

This announcement was made today by Dr. Emmett P. North, president of the State Board, who said the examinations for licensure that had been set for Dec. 4, 5, 6 and 7, had been called off. There were 35 to 40 such applicants to be examined at that time and they will be notified the examinations have been postponed.

This action follows the recent sale of a fraudulent medical diploma to an unqualified person and intimations that bogus diplomas and fraudulent high school credits have been distributed promiscuously to unqualified persons for cash considerations only.

The ramifications of this traffic seem to touch certain low-grade medical schools in Missouri, from which several of the applicants for licensure to have been examined in December have come as graduates.

The State Board of Health yesterday sent a letter, signed by Dr. North, to the six medical schools of Missouri stating that the State Board had decided to make a survey of the medical schools of the State and calling upon them to appoint a time for the investigation.

It was pointed out in the letter that there had been many changes in medical education in recent years and that the board believed it should inform itself in detail concerning medical education in Missouri as a duty to the public.

As has been told, the State board has invited Dr. Frederick C. Waite of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, and Dr. William Dick Custer, secretary of the New York State Board, both eminent authorities on medical education, to make a survey of conditions in Missouri with a view to raising the standards of this State and eliminating quackery.

The letter to Missouri schools refers to these investigators. It was addressed to Drs. Hanau W. Loeb, McKim Marriott and Guy L. Noyes, deans, respectively, of St. Louis University, Washington University and Missouri State University medical schools, and to Dr. Waldo Briggs of the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons; Dr. A. L. McKenzie of the Kansas City University of Physicians and Surgeons and Dr. D. R. Alexander of the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery.

Dr. North's letter. The text of the letter follows: "The responsibility of the State Board of Health of Missouri to the citizens of the State entails upon it the duty of constantly keeping itself accurately informed as to the status of the various activities of its field. "One of the fields is the education and training of men and women who are destined to have the responsibility of the care of the health of all the citizens. "There has been in recent years enough changes in medical education that the State Board of Health believes it is its present duty to the public to inform itself accurately and in detail in regard to medical education in the State of Missouri. Therefore, the State Board of Health of Missouri has decided to make a survey of the medical schools of this State. In this work the Board of Health will call to its aid some men from outside the State who have had experience in the study of medical education in other parts of the country. We shall thus have the advantage of comparison with other medical schools, which will give us the advantage of comparison of the medical education offered in this State with that of the country in general.

"The board feels certain of the hearty co-operation in this work of all those schools that consider their existence in the last analysis is justified only by being public servants. "We shall be glad of your early response and indication if any one time would be more convenient than another for the board to visit you."

Medical Diplomas Inquiry Begun by Kansas Board

By The Associated Press. TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 22.—A survey is being conducted by the State Board of Medical Examiners to ascertain if any physicians are practicing in Kansas on the strength of diplomas issued by the Kansas City College of Medicine and Surgery, the secretary of which has been charged with participation in the sale of graduation certificates to a man who had not completed the required course of study.

Although the Kansas Board has refused to issue certificates to graduates of the Kansas City college, it nevertheless was possible for its graduates to gain certificates from Kansas, after having been given one in some other State having a reciprocal agreement with Kansas.

Watchman Found Dead in Bed. Joseph McKee, 64 years old, watchman for an automobile company on Locust street, was found dead in bed at his home, 3704 North Fourteenth street, at 5 o'clock this morning by his wife. A doctor said heart disease was the cause.

Rheumatic Neuritis

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges—Is Guaranteed.

Deep Soated Uric Acid Deposits Dissolved and the Rheumatic Starts to Leave the System Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of ALLENBURG, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to relief, the army, reduce swollen joints and drive away with even the slightest touch of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENBURG has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the sufferer was in intense and intense pain, where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENBURG, who for many years has been the target of acute rheumatism, has been able to tell the sufferer that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENBURG decidedly cures this worst of all diseases, and he has structured druggists to dispense above in every instance. All druggists can supply you.

KANSAS CITY IN FIGHT FOR ZONING ORDINANCE

Its City Counselor Files Suggestions in Accord With St. Louis' Stand.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 23.—The right of cities to exercise police power to restrain acts or uses injurious to others or the community is asserted in suggestions just filed in the Supreme Court by City Counselor John B. Pew of Kansas City, in support of the motion of the city of St. Louis for a rehearing of the three cases in which the Supreme Court recently held the St. Louis zoning ordinance invalid.

Joining Pew in the suggestions were special counsel for the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, Kansas City Clearing House Association and the Real Estate Board of Kansas City.

Upholds Zoning Laws.
"Zoning laws do not tend to destroy economic and natural development," it is declared. "On the contrary, their purpose is to secure and stabilize such development and at the same time give protection to the beneficial use of property and the general welfare of the community."

The St. Louis ordinance was declared invalid by a four-to-three decision of the Judges. Study of the opinions, Pew says, indicates the greatest diversity of opinion was on the question of whether the restrictions imposed by the ordinance constituted a taking of property without compensation. In this connection, these suggestions were offered:

That the word "property," as used in the Constitution, does not include those uses or acts of dominion which are injurious to others or to the community.

That a police regulation, restraining or restricting those uses or acts of dominion which are injurious to others or to the community, does not constitute a taking of "property" within its constitutional meaning.

That the invasion of a residence district by apartments, hotels, business places and factories is, in its natural tendency, an evil which is detrimental to the public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare.

Rehearing Urged.
That the act of the State in remedying this evil by restricting those uses and acts which are detrimental to the public health, safety and general welfare does not amount to taking of property.

Attacks on the ordinance as an esthetic measure were answered with a declaration that growth of those conditions sought to be remedied by zoning ordinances had reached an alarming stage in cities and that such invasions had resulted in blighted districts.

"Legislation of this character has been encouraged," it was asserted, "not by impractical dreamers who seek an Utopian city beautiful, but by conservative, hard-headed, practical business men."

The court was urged to grant a rehearing and work out, if possible, some solution by which the State, through its municipalities, may be enabled to extend its protecting arm against these pressing evils.

Other suggestions in support of the motion for rehearing have been filed by University City, the North St. Louis Business Men's League and other organizations of St. Louis.

Unidentified Man Found Dead.
An unidentified man about 65 years old was found dead yesterday afternoon on the floor of an unoccupied house at 1007 Chouteau avenue when agents for the property visited the place to inspect it. There were no money or papers that might lead to identification. The man wore a ring with the initials, "K. G. F." and also carried a chain and gold cross. The man is described as 5 feet 11 inches, 185 pounds, gray hair, and wore light trousers, light

PROGRESSIVES MAY UPSET REPUBLICAN SLATE IN CONGRESS

Expected to Take Advantage of Party's Slim Margin of Control to Get Desirable Committee Seats.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Whether the Republicans will be able to organize the House and Senate immediately upon the convening of the Sixty-eighth Congress is a subject of concern to some leaders.

The ratio between the two major parties in both houses is so close that a small group of Republicans can block the election of the Speaker and the President of the Senate. This situation gives the Progressives a vantage point from which they are expected to crowd their demands as to organization and legislation.

Republican Margin Small.
A majority of the membership is necessary for the organization of each house. The Republican membership in the Senate will not exceed 51 and 49 constitute a majority. Thus three Progressives could prevent an election, unless the Republicans could draw support from the Democrats.

In the House the Republicans will have a majority not exceeding 18. The Progressives of the House apparently are preparing to take advantage of this situation and it is the belief now that they will undertake to force some demands on the majority leaders, particularly with reference to committee assignments.

Interested in Three Committees.
The Republican leaders say they expect no difficulty in putting through the party slate, but others are less optimistic.

The Western delegations are vitally interested in railroad legislation, and it would not be surprising to some Senators if they sought to bring about changes in the personnel of the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission.

Senators Cummins of Iowa and McCormick of Chicago are expected to be candidates for President of the Senate.

Gossip at the capital is that the Progressives are interested in the organization of the Rules, Ways and Means and Interstate Commerce Commission committees—the three most powerful in the House.

Under the procedure of the House, the Rules Committee determines what legislation is to be presented to the House, the order of its precedence and the manner in which it shall be considered.

INDEPENDENCE
FINANCED BY GUARANTEE

Author, at Installation
Andrew's University, of Goods

WITH the acknowledgment that Rudyard Kipling used Thrift as an illustration as Lord Rector of London, on Oct. 10.

The honor conferred on Kipling carries a prestige comparable to that in its sphere. The Lord Rector Andrew Carnegie was one of the few persons who service in literature or education.

The test of Kipling's address follows:
The sole reward that maturity can bring is to be pleased at it. When I was young I sat and suffered under that disappointment. Now that I am older
I propose, if you, my constituents,
will permit me, to hand on the sacred torch of boredom.

In the first volume, then, of the Flickering edition of the works of the late Robert Burns, on the 17th
page, you will find this stanza:

To catch Dame Fortune's golden smile

Assiduous wait upon her,

And gather gold by every wile

That's justified by honor—

Not for to hide it in a hedge

Not for the train attendant,

But for the glorious privilege

Of being independent.

Independence means, "Let every thing be done by its own head." It means the blessed state of hanging on to as few persons and things as possible, and it leads up to the singular privilege of a man owning himself. The desire for independence has been, up to the present, an in-extinguishable human instinct, antedat-ing even the social instinct. Let us trace it back to its beginnings, so that we may not be surprised at our own virtue today.

Science tells us that man did not begin life on the ground, but lived among trees—a platform which does not offer much room for large or democratic assemblies. Here
he had to keep his individual balance on the branches, under penalty of death or disablement if he lost it.

And here, when his few wants were satisfied, he had time to realize slowly that he was not altogether
like the beasts, but a person apart.

And, therefore, lonely, he fashioned his family tree and associated himself with his fellows on the flat for predatory or homicidal purposes did he sacrifice his personal independence of action or cut into the large leisure of brooding abstract thought necessary for the discovery of relations to his world. This is the period in our revered ancestor's progress through time that strikes us as immensely the most interesting and important.

First Use of Speech to Lie.

No one knows how long it took to evolve the human line of ascent from that of the larger apes; but during that cleavage there may have been an epoch when men lay under an affliction of something very like the human thought he could have reached the relief of speech. It is difficult, conceivable that in that long articulate agony he may have transformed—dumb—the full round of sensational experience and emotion,
and when at last speech was born,
what was the first practical use made of it? Remember, he was by that time past master in all arts of camouflage known to the beasts. He could hide near a waterhole and watch them as they came down to drink—which is the germ of war.
He could attract them by imitating their cries of distress or love—which was the genesis of most of the arts; he could double back on his tracks and thus circumvent an acquaintance of his own kind who was stalking him—
which is obviously the origin of the art of our social amenities. In fact, he could act any kind of a liar then extant. I submit, therefore, that the first use man made of his new power of expression was to tell a lie—a frigid and calculated lie.

Imagine the wonder and delight of the first liar in the world when he found that the first lie overwhelmingly outdid every effort of his old mud-and-grass camouflage with no expenditure of energy. Consider his pride, his awestricken admiration of himself, when he saw that by mere word of mouth he could send his simpler companions shining up trees in search of fruit that he knew was not there, and when they descended empty and angry, he could persuade them that they, and not he, were in fault, and could dispatch them, hopefully up another tree. Can you blame the creature for thinking himself a god?

The only thing that kept him within bounds must have been the discovery that this mimic working was not confined to himself.

"That That Is, Is."

Unfortunately—most unfortunately—we have no record of the meeting of the World's First Liar with the World's Second Liar, but from what we know of their descendants
today they were probably of opposite sexes, married at once, and began a prosperous progeny. For there is no doubt that mankind suffered much and early from this same vice of

'At Any Price, Own Yourself,' Rudyard Kipling Advises All Men

INDEPENDENCE MUST BE FINANCED BY THRIFT, AS GUARANTEE OF GOOD FAITH

Author, at Installation as Lord Rector of St. Andrew's University, Discourages Waste of Goods or Time.

WITH the acknowledgment that he was carrying coals to Newcastle, Rudyard Kipling used Thrift as the theme of his address at his installation as Lord Rector of St. Andrew's University, Edinburgh, on Oct. 10.

The honor conferred on Kipling carries with it, in British educational circles, a prestige comparable to that accorded the office of Poet Laureate in this sphere. The Lord Rector last year was Sir James M. Barrie, and the year before was one of the few Lord Rectors not chosen for conspicuous service in literature or education.

The text of Kipling's address follows:

The sole revenge that maturity can take upon youth for the sin of being young is to prevent it. When I was young I sat and suffered under that praise awarded—mostly after death—to individuals notorious for the practice. Now the amount of truth open to mankind has always been limited. Substantially, it comes to no more than the axiom quoted by the Fool in "Twelfth Night" on the authority of the witty Hermit of Prague: "That that is, is." Conversely, "That that is not, isn't."

But it is just this truth that Man must bitterly resent being brought to his notice. He will do, suffer, and permit anything rather than acknowledge it. He desires that the waters which he has digged and canalized should run uphill by themselves when it suits him. He desires that the numerals which he himself counted on his fingers and christened "two and two" should make three and five according to his varying needs and moods.

Why does he do this? Because, subconsciously, he still scales his self against the age-old companions, the beast, who can only act lies. Man knows that at any moment he can tell a lie that fog a while, will delay or divert the workings of cause and effect. Being an animal who is still learning to reason, he does not yet understand why, with a little more, or a little louder, lying, he should not be able permanently to break the chain of cause and effect. But that would be the side issue, which he hates, and to have everything both ways in every relation of his life. In other words, we want to be independent of facts, for the young are the more intolerant of those of those who tell us that this is impossible.

When I wished to claim my independence and to express myself according to the latest lights of my age (for there were lights even then) it was disheartening to be told that I could not be expected to be clothed, fed, taught, amused and comforted—not to say preached at—by others, and at the same time to practice toward them a savage and thorny independence.

I imagine that you, perhaps, may have assisted at domestic conferences on these lines; but I maintain that we are not the unthinking asses that are sometimes called. Our self-expression may have been a trifle crude, but the instinct that prompted it was that primal instinct of independence which antedates the social one and makes the young at times a little defiant. It comes down from the dumb and dreadful epoch when all that Man knew was that he was himself and not another, and therefore the loneliest of created beings, and you know that there is no loneliness called the loneliness of youth or war with its surroundings in a world that does not care. I can give you no great comfort in your war, but if you will allow me I will give you a scientific parallel that may bear on the situation.

The Escape of Primitive Man. Not once upon a time, but at many different times in different places and ages, it came over some one Primitive Man that he desired above everything to escape from a while from the sight and the sound of his fellow men. It may have been an excellent thing, or it may have been an abominable one, but whichever it was he had had enough of it for a time. Knowing no more than the psychology of his age (whereas we, of course, know the psychology of all ages) he referred his impulse to the direct orders, guidance, or leading of his Totem, his Guardian Spirit, his Disembodied Ancestor, or other Private God, who had appeared to him in a dream and inspired his action. Herein our ancestor was as logical as a man taking the degree on the eve of a professional career—not to say a practical Scot. He accepted the spirit of his high organized life, which had its roots in the immemorial past, but outside that the amount of truth open to him was self-denial to such an extent that it was without the advice, interference or even the privacy of his tribe. He

Kipling Signing Books for Girl Visitors at University

This snapshot shows the famous British author in a new role, that of an amiable collegiate official signing autograph albums for visitors. The girls shown here caught him on the campus just after his induction into the rectorship of St. Andrew's, still in hood and gown, and begged him to sign their books which he smilingly and good-naturedly did.

might appreciate the dear creatures much better on his return; he might hatch out wonderful schemes for their advantage during his absence. But that would be the side issue, which he hates, and to have everything both ways in every relation of his life. In other words, we want to be independent of facts, for the young are the more intolerant of those of those who tell us that this is impossible.

Morality, Action Was Right. The power that possessed him was a desire to own himself for a while, even as his ancestors, whose spirits had, he believed, laid this upon him, had owned themselves before the tribe. He may tell himself and his friends what splendid things he would do were he his own master, but as his tribe goes so must he go—for his belly's sake. When and as it came over him that he desired to escape from a while from the sight and the sound of his fellow men, it may have been an excellent thing, or it may have been an abominable one, but whichever it was he had had enough of it for a time. Knowing no more than the psychology of his age (whereas we, of course, know the psychology of all ages) he referred his impulse to the direct orders, guidance, or leading of his Totem, his Guardian Spirit, his Disembodied Ancestor, or other Private God, who had appeared to him in a dream and inspired his action. ward First Causes, will not, in the long run, nourish our physical or mental needs. There seems to be an unscientific objection on the part of First Cause against being inquired of. For you who follow on the heels of the Great War are affected, as you are bound to be, by a demoralization not unlike that which overtakes a household where there had been long and severe illness, followed by a relaxation of domestic ritual, and accompanied by loud self-pity and large recrimination.

Nor is this all your load. The last few years have so immensely quickened and emphasized all means of communication, visible and invisible, in every direction, that our world—which is only another name for the tribe—is not merely "too much with us," but moves, shouts and moralizes about our path and our bed through every hour of our days and nights. Even a normal world might become confusing on these terms, and our life is far from being normal. Our tribe, of its area has passed bodily out of civilization, and much of the remainder appears to be divided, with no consciousness of sin, between an earnest intention to make earth hell as soon as possible and an equally earnest intention, with no consciousness of presumption, to make it heaven on or before the same date. But you have ample opportunities of observing this for yourselves.

The broad and immediate result is partly through a recent necessity for thinking and acting in large masses, partly through the instinct of mankind to draw together and cry out when calamity hits them, and very largely through the quickening of communications, the power of the tribe over the individual has become more extended, particular, and potent, and using the word in both senses, impertinent, than it has been for many generations. Some men accept this omnipresence of crowds; some resent it. It is to the latter that I am speaking.

"Let Us Count Our Blessings."

The independence that was a "glorious privilege" in Robert Burns' day is now more difficult to achieve than when one had merely to overcome a few material obstacles and the rest followed almost automatically. Nowadays, to own one's self in any decent measure, one has to run counter to a gospel and to fight against its atmosphere, and an atmosphere, so long as it can be kept up, is rather cloying. Even so, there is no need for the individual who intends to own himself to be too pessimistic. Let us, as our forefathers used to, count our blessings. You, my constituents, enjoy three special ones. First, thanks to the continuity of self-denial on the part of your own forebears, the bulk of you will enter professions and callings in which you will be free men—free to be paid what your work is worth in the open market, irrespective of your own feelings.

The Increasing Load. It is also true that you were brought into this world without being consulted. But even this disability from which, by the way, Adam suffered, though it may justify our adopting a critical attitude to-

The Increasing Load. It is also true that you were brought into this world without being consulted. But even this disability from which, by the way, Adam suffered, though it may justify our adopting a critical attitude to-

tive of your alleged merits or your needs. Free, moreover, to work without physical molestation of yourself or your family as long and as closely as you please; free to exploit your own powers and your own health to the uttermost for your own ends.

Your second blessing is that you carry in your hand's history and in your heart's the strongest instinct of inherited continuity, which expresses itself in your passionate interest in your own folk, your own race and all its values. History shows that from remote times the Scots would descend from their heather and associate together on the flat for predatory purposes, which now take the form of raiding the world in all departments of life and governments. But at intervals your race, more than others, feels the necessity for owning itself. Therefore it returns in groups to its heather, where, under camouflage of "games" and "gatherings" it fortifies itself with the rites, incantations, passwords, raiment, dances, food and drink of its ancestors and reinitiates itself into its primal individualism. These ceremonies, as the Southern races know to their cost, give its members fresh strength for renewed forays.

"Little Things Make or Break Men." And that same strength is your third and chief blessing. I have already touched on the privilege of being broken by birth. Your people must learn to do things without things. There is where the sons of the small houses, who have borne the yoke in their youth, hold a cumulative advantage over those who have been accustomed to life with broad margins. Such men can and do accommodate themselves to strained circumstances at a pinch and for an object, but they are aware of their efforts afterward and are untrained man is aware of his muscles on the second morning of a walking tour, and when they have won through what they consider hardship they are apt to waste good time and place by subconsciously approving, or even remembering, their own efforts. On the other hand, the man who has been used to shuffling, let us say, in cold water at 7 o'clock the year round, takes what one may call the minor damnable of life in his stride without either making a song about them or writing home about them. And that is the chief reason why the untrained man always has to pay more for the privilege of owning himself than the man trained to the little things. It is the little things, in microbe or moral, that make us, as it is the little things that break us.

Also, men in any walk of life who have been taught not to waste or muddle material under their hand are less given to muddle or mishandle moral, intellectual and emotional issues than men whose wastage has never been checked or who look to have their wastage made good by others. The proof is plain. Among the generations that have preceded you at this university were men of your own blood—many and many—who did their work on the traditional sack of peasemeal or oatmeal behind the door—weighed out and measured with their own hands against the cravings of their natural appetites. These were men who intended to own themselves, in obedience to some dream, teaching or word which had come to them. They knew that it would be a hard and long task, so they set about it with their own rations on their own backs, and they walked along the sands to pick up driftwood to keep the fire going in their lodgings.

Attitude Toward Independents.

Now what, in this world or the next, can the world, or any tribe in it, do with or to people of this temper? Bribe them by good dinners to take larger views of life? They would probably see their hosts under the table first and argue their heads off afterward. Offer them money to shed a conviction or two? A man doesn't lightly sell what he has paid for with his hide. Stampede them or coax them or threaten them into countenancing the issue of false weights and measures? It is a little hard to liberalize persons who have done their own weighing and measuring with broken teacups by the light of tallow candles. Not those thrifty souls must have been a narrow and an inflexible breed to handle; but, by their God, in whose word they walked, they owned themselves. And their ownership was based upon the truth and if you have not your own rations you must feed out of your tribe's hands, with all that that implies.

Should any of you care to own yourselves on these lines your insurance ought to be effected in those first 10 years of a young man's life, when he is neither seen nor heard. This is the period—once mostly spending it in lodgings alone—that corresponds to the time when man in the making began to realize that he was himself and not another. The post-war world which discusses so freely and frankly the uses of the sword and the uses of the pen, and the uses of sex as the dominant factor of life has adopted a reserved and modest attitude in its handling of the imperious and inevitable details of mere living and working. I will respect that attitude.

The Payments for Independence.

The initial payments on the policy of one's independence, then, must be financed, by no means for publication, but as a guaranty of good faith toward oneself, primarily out of the drinks that one does not use, and, secondly, out of the maidens in whom one does not too extravagantly rejoice; the entertainments that one does not too systematically attend or conduct; the transportation one does not too magnificently use; the bets one does not too generally place and the objects of beauty and desire that one does not too generously buy. Secondly, those revenues can be added to by extra work, or by extra hours before or after one's regular work, when one would infinitely rather rest or play. That involves the question of how far you can give yourself without breaking down, and if you do break down, how soon you can recover and carry on again. This is for you to judge, and to act accordingly.

No one regrets—no one has regretted—more than I that these should be the terms of the policy of independence. But the age if personal independence could be guaranteed for all by some form of co-ordinated action combined with public assistance, and so forth. Unfortunately, there are still a few things in this world that a man must manage for himself; his own independence is one of them; and the obscure, repeated shifts and continuities and abstractions necessary to the manufacture of it are too personal and intimate to expose to the inspection of any department, however sympathetic.

If you have a temperament that can accommodate itself to stamping your style while you are thus saving you are lucky. But anyway you will be more or less uncomfortable until it presently dawns on you that you have put enough by to give you food and housing for, say, one week ahead.

Building Up Independence in Advance.

It is both sedative and anapaeic—it makes for calm in the individual and forbearance toward the tribe—to know that you hold even seven days' potential independence in reserve—and owed to no man. One is led on to stretch that potentiality to the limit, and to stretch it to the limit is to stretch it to the limit. It is possible, the possibilities grow. Bit by bit one builds up and digs one's self into a base whence one can move in any direction and fall back upon in any need. The need may be merely to sit still and consider, as did our first ancestors, what manner of animal we are, or it may be to cut loose at a minute's notice from a situation which has become intolerable or unworthy; but whatever it may be, it is one's own need, and the opportunity of meeting it has been made by one's own self.

After all, yourself is the only person you can rely upon to make good away from in this life, and maybe in another. It is worth a little pains and money to do good to him. For it is he, and not our derivatively educated minds or our induced emotions, who preserves in us the undiluted senior instinct of independence.

You can test this by promising yourself not to do a thing, and special the scandalous amount of special pleading that you have to go through with yourself if you break your promise. A man does not go through

SENATE COMMITTEE GETS IMPORTANT SUGGESTIONS FOR RIVER DEVELOPMENT

Deepening of Big Muddy for Navigation and Further Support of Federal Barge Line Among Proposals Made at Hearing.

Important suggestions for development of river transportation in the Mississippi Valley were made by shippers and representatives of commercial organizations at the hearing yesterday before a Senate committee investigating the McCormick bill for a nine-foot waterway from Chicago to the Gulf. The following proposals were made: Canalyze the Big Muddy River in Southern Illinois, thus making river transportation available to 47 coal mines which would greatly increase freight tonnage on the Mississippi River and reduce coal prices through lower freight rates. Double present equipment of the Federal barge line immediately and create a fund for further additions to the equipment later. Permit Government operation of the barge line to continue until the experimental stage in river transportation has been passed; then offer the Government towboats, barges, docks, etc., for sale to private enterprise. Seek immediate appropriations to dispose of a comparatively few sandbars in the Mississippi River below St. Louis which have been the greatest handicap to regular service by the Government barge line. Enactment by Congress of a law directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to place river transportation on a parity with railroads in rate-making questions. Construction of a six-foot channel in the Mississippi River between the mouth of the Illinois River at Grafton and the Twin-Cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Big Muddy Proposal. The Big Muddy development program was outlined by a delegation of Southern Illinois coal operators and business men, including State Senator William Sneed of Herrin, F. H. Stamper of the Benton Commercial Club, Joseph Leiter, president of the Zeigler Coal Co. and Chicago capitalist; Walter Williams of Benton and James P. Mooneyham of West Frankfort.

Two plans for canalization of the Big Muddy River have been prepared. One is estimated to cost $4,279,364; the other $3,175,246. The more costly plan provides for elimination of 21 miles of the river by cutting through curves. Three locks are proposed to reduce the current, and a reservoir at the head of the canal would assure a sufficient flow of water for navigation in dry seasons. Estimates of the coal tonnage which would be floated down the canalized Big Muddy into the Mississippi for destinations in all parts of the United States and in South America varied from 7,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons annually. It was asserted that opening up of the Big Muddy would materially reduce transportation charges on coal throughout the Mississippi Valley, thus lowering the price to consumers.

Source in Franklin County.

The source of the Big Muddy River is in Franklin County, near Portland. It flows in a southwest direction through Franklin, Williamson and Jackson counties, entering the Mississippi at Grand Tower, 129 miles south of St. Louis.

Members of the Southern Illinois delegation said they thought funds could be raised in the Big Muddy Valley or by legislative appropriation to defray from one-third to one-half the cost if Congress could appropriate the remainder. No legislation involving the Big Muddy plans is pending. Coal deposits tributary to the proposed Big Muddy canal are many times more valuable than similar deposits in the Ruhr Valley in Germany, Leiter told the committee. He said the present tonnage is five times the tonnage of the Ruhr and would be greatly increased through more continuous operations if the canal were built.

Marshall Hall, president of the Marshall Hall Grain Co. of St. Louis, which has shipped 2,100,000 bushels of grain on the Federal barge line since last April, advised doubling of the barge line equipment. He said the barge line at present is unable to handle all of the grain business available. Samuel Plant, former president of the Merchants' Exchange, and Charles Ripplin, traffic commissioner of the Exchange, each said that business of the barge line would be more than doubled if regular and efficient service were assured. Ripplin said that between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 bushels of grain have been shipped on barges from St. Louis since the navigation season opened last spring.

Delay in Shipments.

Hall declared his firm had lost considerable sums through failure of the barge line to make deliveries on schedule. Export contracts, he pointed out, provide that grain must leave the port of exit on a specified date. If barge line shipments are delayed grain must be purchased on the open market and rushed to port by rail.

Coal operators, grain men and other business men before the committee agreed that Government operation of the barge line should continue until the feasibility of river transportation had been firmly established. None of the witnesses favored permanent Government ownership but believed individuals could not do what is being accomplished by the Government in establishing the system.

Congressman Newton of St. Louis, an active advocate of improved waterways, told the committee the barge line has been operated at a loss during the five years of its existence because of the deplorable condition of comparatively small stretches of the river between here and New Orleans. "If sand bars that take up about three miles of the thousand-mile stretch of the river southward could be eliminated, I know that you would have a hard time building barges fast enough to handle the traffic which would rush to the docks," the Congressman asserted.

Savings to Shippers.

He pointed out that even though the barge line has been operated at a loss, it has saved millions of dollars to shippers because the possibility of cheap water transportation has forced low rail freight rates in the territory along the waterway. The Interstate Commerce Commission rate rulings, he said, indicate it believes only one transportation system should be protected in the United States and that that system is the railroads. He said the commission has ample power to protect fully river transportation by equitable rates, if it desired.

Congressman Newton said that Congress approved river improvement projects in the present bill. Upper Mississippi and Missouri Rivers about 10 years ago, which were to cost $127,000,000. To date only $77,000,000 has been appropriated for that program, he said, and the money has been spent on such widely scattered projects that none of the rivers are made navigable as originally contemplated.

The proposal of a six-foot channel to Minneapolis and St. Paul from the mouth of the Illinois River was made by Sydney J. Roy, representing the Hannibal Chamber of Commerce. He said a large tonnage would be available to shallow-draft barges in the upper river if the channel was made dependable.

St. Louis shippers and representatives of commercial organizations who gave testimony related to navigation projects in the present bill and possibilities for future increases in tonnage included P. W. Coyle, traffic commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce; W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Southern Coal & Coke Mining Co.; C. B. Fox, president of the Aluminum Ore Co.; D. A. Noonan, traffic manager of Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co.; George T. McClure, traffic manager, International Shoe Co.; Samuel Allender, traffic manager, Monsanto Chemical Co.; E. S. Tompkins, traffic manager, St. Louis Screw Co., and R. K. Keas, traffic manager, Laclede Steel Co.

Senators at Hearing.

Members of the Senatorial Committee here were Senators McCormack of Illinois, chairman; Brookhart of Iowa, McKellar of Tennessee and Broussard of Louisiana. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, the committee member, could not be present.

The committee is visiting important cities on the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, traveling in the seamer Mississippi. The party departed last night, scheduled to arrive in Cairo this afternoon. Stops will be made at Memphis, with a side trip to Muscle Shoals, Vicksburg and New Orleans. The concluding hearing will be at New Orleans Monday.

No opposition to the McCormick bill has thus far developed in the Mississippi Valley, members of the committee said in interviews and during speeches at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon at noon and the Commercial Club dinner last night. Each visited a great development for the valley with the construction of the channel and predicted passage of the bill. Senator Broussard is planning an amendment to the bill prohibiting the dumping of sewage of large cities into navigable streams. The senatorial party inspected the municipal barge line docks at the foot of North Main street.

Hyde Issues Navy Day Proclamation

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 22.—Gov. Hyde has issued an executive proclamation, setting apart Saturday Oct. 27, as a National Navy and Theodore Roosevelt Day, and calling on the people of Missouri to observe the day fittingly in honor of the former President and the naval service.

For the third act, seven years have passed, and we are once more at Magnolia Landing. Elvira has married Maj. Patterson. The family discuss a certain personage, "the notorious Col. Blake," who has become the terror of the steamboatmen, as killer and card sharp. They learn that Joe Patterson has been living with Col. Blake on a boat moored at the landing. Joe, having been stripped to his last stitch of clothes,

8 DRY AGENTS, WITH SUITCASES FULL OF WHISKY, ARRESTED

Taken When About to Get on Train for Homes After Leaving Pennsylvania Warehouse.

By the Associated Press.
DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Oct. 23.—
Seven of eight United States Internal Revenue agents, arrested yesterday on charges of systematically stealing liquor from the warehouse
of the Philadelphia Pure Rye Whisky Distilling Co., at Edgington, spent the night in the county jail, having been unable to obtain the $500 bail
under which they were held after a preliminary hearing before a Magistrate. The eighth man gave bond and was released. All will be given another hearing Saturday.

The revenue officers, who had been detained to reexamine the $2,500,000
stock of liquor stored in the warehouse, were arrested by members of the Pennsylvania State police as they were about to board a train for their homes in Philadelphia. According to the police, they carried seven suitcases filled with whisky.
Corporal Nevin Sees, a member of Gov. Pinchot's "flying squadron," detained to enforce the liquor laws,
said that every day for two weeks
he secreted himself in an old locker
in the warehouse and had seen the men carry away large quantities of whisky.

They would tap the whisky barrels, Sees declared, fill flasks, place them in suitcases and traveling bags
and put them in their own lockers
until time to leave for their homes at night. He said he could not tell how much they carried away.

The men arrested are William Norritt, James Boyle, Richard
Erick, Gus Altogether, Charles Mc-Donough, Joseph Dugan, John Mc-Dermott and Thomas Laney.

TUB OF ICE CREAM FOR COOLIDGE

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—A large tub of ice cream was sent to President Coolidge last night by the National Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, which opened its twenty-third annual convention here.
A special messenger, whose duty it is to keep it cool and salted and to deliver it at the White House, accompanied the ice cream.

"AT ANY PRICE, OWN YOURSELF," RUDYARD KIPLING ADVISES

remember or follow up the great things that he has promised himself or his friends to do, but he rarely forgets or forgives when he has promised himself not to do even a little thing. This is because man has lived with himself as an individual vastly longer than he has lived with himself under tribal conditions.

Consequently facts about his noble solitary self and his earliest achievements had time to get well fixed in his memory. He knew he was not altogether one with the beasts. His amazing experiences with his first lie had shown him that he was something of a magician, if not a miracle worker, and his first impulse toward self-denial for ends not immediately in sight must have been a revelation of himself to himself as stupendous as a belief in a future life, which it was possibly intended to herald. It is only natural, then, that individuals who first practiced this apparently insane and purposeless exercise came later to bask in the legends of their tribe as demigods, who went forth and bearded the gods themselves for gifts
—for fire, wisdom or knowledge of the arts.

"At Any Price, Let Me Own Myself."
But one thing that stands outside exaggeration or belittlement through all changes in shapes of things and the sounds of words is the bidding,
the guidance that drives a man to own himself and upholds him through his steps on that road.

The bidding comes direct as a beam of light from that past when man had grown into his present shape, which past, could be questioned, it would probably refer us to a past immeasurably remote still whose creature, not yet man, felt within him that it was not well for him to jackal round another brute's kill even if he went hungry or a while.

It is not such a far cry from that creature, howling over his empty stomach in the dark, to the folk of All the Ages counting over his coppers in front of a cookshop to see if they will run to a full meal—as some few here have had to do; and the principle is the same. For any price that I can pay, let me own myself.

And the price is worth paying. If you keep what you have bought. For the eternal question still is whether the profit of any concession that a man makes to his Tribe, against the light that is in him, outweighs or justifies his disregard for that light.
A man may apply his independence
to what is called worldly advantage
and discover too late that he laboriously has made himself dependent on a mass of external conditions for the maintenance of which he sacrificed himself. So he may be testimoned with the whole haberdashery of success and go to his grave—cast-away. Some men hold that the risk is worth taking. Others do not. It is to these that I have spoken.

"Let the council of thy own heart stand; for there is none more faithful unto thee than it. For a man's soul is sometimes wont to show him more than seven watchmen that sit on high on a watchtower."

WOMAN FOUND IN ICE BOX OF MEAT SHOP

Says She Was Choked and Robbed of $4500 in Jewelry—
$200 Cash.

Mrs. Clara Baum, wife of Daniel Baum, was found at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the ice box of the retail meat shop of the Eugene R. Smith Packing Co., 2624 Montgomery street, where she had been for almost an hour. She was suffering from shock and chill and partially unconscious. When she was revived she told of having been robbed of jewelry valued at $4500 and of being thrust into the box.

Mrs. Baum, at 2 p. m., went to the shop, which is conducted by her husband, and relieved Michael Maure, 2814 Garfield avenue, who was in charge. Maure and Eugene Smith went out to lunch. Ten minutes later, she says, a man entered and asked for some bacon. She showed him a small strip and he asked if she did not have a whole side of the meat. She turned to the cooler to see and as she opened the door he seized her and choked her into insensibility.

When she revived, she afterward said, she found herself in the box, with her jewelry, consisting of a diamond ring set with three diamonds, valued at $2500; a solitaire diamond ring valued at $800 and a lavallier valued at $200, gone. She was unable to get out and again lapsed into unconsciousness.

When Maure and Smith returned they heard her moaning and rescued her. She was taken home and doctors called. The cash register in the shop, in which had been about $200, was empty.

MAN WITH SHOTGUN RELEASED
Anthony Hennessey Not Held in Connection With Holdup.

Anthony Hennessey, 21 years old, of 1442 North Seventeenth street who was arrested Saturday night by policemen of the Carr Street District when carrying a shotgun, was discharged yesterday when arraigned in Police Court on a peace disturbance charge, for want of prosecution. Hennessey said he was carrying a shotgun because he had just returned from a hunting trip.

He was not arrested in connection with the investigation of the holdup of Mrs. Mary Hanson, president of the St. Louis Glue Manufacturing Co., as was announced by the Carr street police Saturday night.

Do you take orders from a Coffee Pot?

It must be humiliating for thousands of people to confess that they lack the will-power to stop coffee.

They know from experience that it results in irritated nerves; keeps them awake nights; makes them nervous. Yet they don't seem to be able to say "no."

If you find that coffee harms you, change to the pure cereal beverage, Postum. You'll find it delicious and satisfying. And it is absolutely free from caffeine or any other harmful drug, so you can drink Postum at any meal, and as much as you want.

Your grocer sells Postum in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) prepared instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling fully 20 minutes. The cost of either form is about one-half cent a cup.

MIND YOUR BUSINESS' NAME OF RESEARCH BUREAU WEEKLY

Editor Says Publication Will Not Be Political and Is Designed to Be Helpful.

Scrutiny of the organization and management of the city government is the purpose of "Mind Your Business," weekly publication, the first number of which was issued today by the Bureau of Municipal Research.

The publication, according to Jesse D. Burke, the editor, is not hostile to the administration, and is not opposed to labor organizations. "It is," he says, "against waste and inefficiency in the city government, wherever found; whether due to poor organization, bad methods, ignorance, incompetency, insubordination, indifference, disloyalty or dishonesty." It hopes to "develop and stimulate" it, informed, active, exacting, fair-minded and social-minded citizenship. Publication is to be weekly. It will not be concerned with politics and will carry no advertising.

FARIS IMPOSES HEAVY FINES ON FIVE LIQUOR VIOLATORS

Federal Judge Does Not Permit His Assessments to Drop Below $300 Mark.

The five withdrew their pleas of not guilty and pleaded guilty. "Vic Dismont, saloon keeper, was fined $400; Jack Douglas, a bartender, $450; Harry Dunn, a bellboy at the Maryland Hotel, $400; Edward E. Fischer, a former saloon keeper, $350, and Sam Davis, proprietor of a fruit store at 1512 Market street, $300.

Two who pleaded guilty yesterday were fined $340 each.

DEPOSITIONS TAKEN IN MISSOURI READ AT STOKES TRIAL

Brother and Sister-in-Law of Wallace Certain Mrs.
Stokes Never Visited Their Home at Bunceton.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Depositions of witnesses in Bunceton and Booneville, Mo., where some of the indiscretions charged against Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes are alleged by her husband, W. E. D. Stokes, to have been committed, were read to the jury in the divorce trial today.

In one deposition, Mrs. Arthur A. Wallace, sister-in-law of Edgar T. Wallace, co-respondent, declared she was quite certain that Mrs. Stokes had never been a guest at the Wallace home in Bunceton and amplified previous reports regarding visits of Stokes to the Wallace home in search of evidence against his wife.

Came to Town as Historian.
Mrs. Wallace, telling of Stokes' visit to her home, said:

"He said that he had come to town as a historian to get data on the history of the Santa Fe Trail and its landmarks. I suggested that he could find this information in a certain book. Just then my husband came downstairs and I left the room."

Mrs. Wallace declared that the testimony of Mrs. Alice Mills, that Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Stokes, with two men mentioned in the case, were in a tallyho in Bunceton on a certain occasion was absolutely untrue.

Wilbur Wallace of Booneville, brother of the co-respondent, in a deposition said that Mrs. Stokes was never in the Wallace home.

Repudiates Affidavit.
William L. Nelson, former Congressman from Missouri, and a former editor of the Bunceton Weekly Eagle, brought into court a bundle of files of his publication to prove that Mrs. Stokes, then Helen Elwood, was not a visitor in Bunceton in 1904.

Several columns of society notes from the Eagle at the time of the alleged visit were read in court, but the name of Helen Elwood did not appear.

"Would it have been possible for your society department to have missed such an item in a town of 600 population?" asked counsel for Stokes.

"Oh, no," replied the aged editor. "At that time we had very fierce competition with the Bunceton Tribune, and we didn't miss a thing."

Testimony of a fifth Stokes witness, previously submitted in an affidavit, was repudiated today in a deposition by Frank Force, taken by the commission which visited Bunceton last week, in which Force denied he had seen Mrs. Stokes and Wallace enter the Bunceton Men's Club.

Sudden Ending of Plaintiff's Case Surprise to Defense.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Events moved rapidly at the rehearing of the Stokes divorce trial before Supreme Court Justice Mahoney, yesterday. To the surprise of the defense, counsel for W. E. D. Stokes rested his case, evidently satisfied that the testimony offered by 21 of his 70 witnesses would be sufficient to win him the divorce he has been seeking for five years.

Although momentarily taken back by the unexpected halting of the plaintiff's case, Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Stokes, soon had Stokes on the stand. Little of importance developed, however, for most of the time that the aged millionaire was on the stand was taken up with arguments, comment, charges and counter-charges so bitter and undignified that Justice Mahoney rose to his feet, and threatened to clear the courtroom.

When Untermyer had his defense in full swing he called as one of the first witnesses for Mrs. Stokes, Assistant District Attorney Pecora, with two of his former assistants, Stanley Richter (who is Untermyer's son-in-law) and Ferdinand C. Morton, ready to follow. But a clever use of technicalities by Max Steuer, attorney for Stokes, prevented Pecora from giving any testimony of importance. Joseph M. Dawson, a notary public, was the first witness called for the defense. His name appears on most of the affidavits submitted by Stokes. A few questions asked of him related mostly to the affidavits. Considerable argument preceded introduction of a deposition by Dr. L. E. Benson, doctor and mining engineer, who lived with Wallace at 13 East Thirty-fifth street at the time Mrs. Stokes is charged with having visited Wallace. Dr. Benson said he did not know Mrs. Stokes, had never seen her at the Wallace apartment, and that Wallace had no pictures of her that he knew of.

Rangers Return Liquor to Sheriff.

MARLIN, Tex., Oct. 23.—After checking the liquor confiscated in raids by Sheriff C. O. Moore and other Falls County officers and stored in Marlin jail, Ranger Sgt. Rome Wheatley, in charge of rangers who arrested Moore and four other men yesterday on charges of selling whisky, turned the entire stock back to custody of the Sheriff. Wheatley said the rangers had no evidence that any of the confiscated stock was missing.

BOARD REINSTATES TWO DETECTIVES
Men Who Arrested Students Held for 47 Hours Then Ordered to Uniformed Duty.

Detective Sergeant Thomas Connelly and Detective Robert Bourland, who were suspended from the police force during investigation of accusations by three Rolla School of Mines students that the detectives caused their detention as prisoners for 47 hours, more than twice the legal limit under the State 24-hour holdover law, were reinstated this afternoon by the Police Board, but were ordered to uniformed duty.

President Brockman of the board, in giving notice of the board's decision, said there was nothing else to do but reinstate them, but with some punishment, in view of the fact that the students refused to make a regulation complaint through Inspector Vasey, or to appear before the board.

Brockman said it was the board's opinion that the detectives had not used the best judgment in the case, and that the board felt they should be severely cautioned as well as punished by being returned to uniformed work. Connelly and Bourland have contended that they followed regular police custom in the case.

Inspector Vasey, as has been told, communicated with Allen Doster of Los Angeles, Cal., who claimed ownership of the automobile in which the students were arrested and which was the cause of the investigation. Doster and his companions, after sending a joint affidavit to Vasey in which they detailed the hardships of their incarceration in police cells without the knowledge of relatives or friends, were asked to come to St. Louis to testify before the board.

Not to Appear Before Board.
A telegram received yesterday from Charles Fulton, director of the School of Mines, said the students would not appear here. "They have lost enough time from their studies in this affair and do not care to absent themselves further," Fulton wired.

With the refusal of the students to testify, the question of charges to be heard at a public trial was settled. The board cannot compel the students to come here.

In his report to the board, Inspector Vasey held that the detectives did not take the proper steps to ascertain the standing or identity of their prisoners and should have taken the case up personally with Government officials the Monday following the Sunday of the arrest. Had this been done, instead of waiting for the perfunctory duplicate report of the arrest to be sent to the Government officials, the students could have been released within the 24-hour limit. Baseball passes and other papers in possession of the students, he pointed out, served to establish their identity, which could have been corroborated in short order from friends here had the detectives themselves notified the friends instead of leaving such notification to turnkeys and desk men at the station.

RAY RENARD FOUND NOT GUILTY ON CONCEALED WEAPON CHARGE

Ray Renard, St. Louis gangster, arrested with Eddie Lanahan in Renard's automobile, parked at the curb in front of the Clayton court-house April 19, was found not guilty of a concealed weapon charge in a decision given yesterday by Circuit Judge McElhinney. An automatic pistol was found on the floor of the machine.

The arrest was made by St. Louis detectives, coincident with the finding of $113,427.97 in cash and industrial bonds and $2,139,900 in unsigned Federal Land Bank bonds, stolen from an armored mail truck April 2, in the Richmond Heights bungalow of William F. (Whitey) Doering, who was convicted Saturday in Federal Court.

The trial of William F. (Whitey) Doering and David (Chippy) Robinson, who were acquitted of holding up Mr. and Mrs. Ward S. Ireland in their home on Natural Bridge road, was going on in Judge McElhinney's court, and half a dozen gangsters were arrested about the courthouse, some being called from the courtroom. Lanahan was discharged on preliminary hearing. Renard waived a jury, and Judge McElhinney heard the evidence in his case two weeks ago. The pistol was found next to the right hand door of the machine, near Lanahan's feet. Renard was the driver. Judge McElhinney held that to sustain the charge the weapon would have to be

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

New $2,000,000 bridge, crossing the Ohio River into Cincinnati, one of the southern gateway of the Southern Railway System.

Southern Railway System deposits in Southern banks an average of $150,500 each banking hour.

Making new capital work for the South

The margin between the cost of producing transportation and the price received for it is so small that it requires the utmost efficiency of management, and the most carefully directed expenditure of new capital, to safeguard even a small return on the investment.

In no other large business enterprise is so great an amount of capital risked for so small a return as in railroad transportation.

The $285,000,000 of new money that has been put into the Southern Railway System in the past twenty years has been largely devoted to increasing capacity and promoting operating efficiency.

We receive many requests for the elimination of grade crossings, the construction of monumental passenger stations, and other non-revenue-producing improvements. The communities we serve naturally desire to have as much of this work done as can be safely financed, but they have recognized that their interests will best be served by expenditures which produce more and better transportation.

It is only because new capital has been expended on productive improvements that the Southern Railway System today is an efficient transportation machine and an asset to the South.

Why Endure That Aching Back?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Follow the Advice of These St. Louis Folks.

Is that dull, never-ceasing backache making you miserable? Are you lame, stiff and aching; tortured with sharp rheumatic twinges? Does Autumn find you tired, nervous and depressed—lacking energy for tasks that once seemed so easy?

Then why put up with these troubles? Why continue to let yourself feel so worn-out and miserable?

Why not look to your kidneys as so many St. Louis folks have done?

The kidneys are the blood-filters. Without them you could not live a single day.

But weak kidneys cannot properly filter the blood and poisons accumulate, upsetting the whole system. The effect of this body poisoning is quickly apparent.

You suffer daily backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and distressing bladder irregularities. You are nervous, irritable and dispirited—feel weak, tired, all run-down.

Don't risk serious kidney sickness. Use Doan's Kidney Pills before it is too late! Doan's have brought health and strength to thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These St. Louis Folks:

WILLIAM HARRIS,
3921 Kosuth Av., says:

"A cold settled on my kidneys and stiffened up my back. My back hurt as though the muscles were drawn to the snapping point. Stinging pains went all through my back and down into my legs, and I was not able to do much for a few days. On the advice of a friend I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills, and they were the first remedy to give me relief. Since using Doan's I have had no kidney trouble."

MRS. CHARLOTTE SCHULZ, 3928 Sherman Place, says:

"I took a hard cold and after that my kidneys ached and pained. My back hurt so I could hardly bend, and I had such dizzy spells, everything became black before me so I almost fell. I had purty sores beneath my eyes and my feet swelled so I could hardly keep my shoes on. I heard my neighbors praise Doan's Kidney Pills so I began to use them. A couple boxes of Doan's cured me and made me feel like a different woman."

SECOND DEATH IN FAMILY FROM GAS

Brother of Elizabeth Schoy, Who Ended Life, Succumbs
in Hospital.

Frank Schoy, 26 years old, of 2865
South Eighteenth street, died at city hospital last night from gas poisoning, from which he was found unconscious when police and neighbors
broke into the home last Thursday.
Miss Elizabeth Schoy, 31, a sister, was found dead on the kitchen floor
at the time.

Police reported their investigation disclosed that Miss Schoy had turned on all the burners of a gas stove and had opened the doors, allowing the gas to flow into the kitchen.
She had closed the doors leading to her brother's sleeping quarters, but the gas had permeated through the cracks to his room. No explanation of her action was obtained, as Schoy never regained consciousness.

The rapidly moving hands of a gas meter in the cellar below the three-room flat occupied by the brother and sister were responsible for the finding of the couple. Clifford Good-head of 3008 1/2 A Virginia avenue, a meter reader, had gone to the cellar to take the reading, when he noticed the heavy flow of gas, and,
failing to obtain a response upstairs
to his knocks, he called neighbors and policemen, who broke into the house.

For a Boy's Christmas
An Aero Flyer

What could possibly suit a boy's fancy or compel a boy's enthusiasm to the same degree that this fleet, handsome coaster wagon will?

Whatever a boy may NEED, there can be no doubt that he WANTS—always—the things that GO! The things that respond to his urge for action—the speedier the better!

And so we suggest today to the parent, elder brother, sister or other adult relative, already searching the lists for the ONE gift that will bring greatest happiness to Junior on Christmas morning, that there need be no doubt about the manner of his reception of an Aero Flyer.

Nearly three thousand of these "Coaster Wagon Aristocrats" have been distributed FREE by the Post-Dispatch since September 2d. These three thousand are demonstrating, daily, in every neighborhood section of St. Louis and environs, Aero Flyer sturdiness, beauty and speed. They meet every test imposed by boy owners. They inspire boys who have received them to write us letters that praise, unstintingly, the prize we have chosen for boy subscription-getters.

The Aero Flyer model offered by the Post-Dispatch has a retail value of ten dollars. It is a worthy prize for spare-time effort, and no normal boy could fail to be delighted with it as a Christmas gift.

You May Count Upon

Post-Dispatch Co-operation With Santa Claus

First, by renewal here of the offer of an Aero Flyer for four new subscriptions, on the terms outlined below.

Second, by withholding publication of the boy's name from Honor Roll lists, when that is requested, and,

Third, by free storage of the Aero Flyer, if desired, to be delivered December 15th or later.

Resolve now that an Aero Flyer will delight some manly boy on Christmas morning. The first step is enrollment. Mail the completed Enrollment Blank NOW—while you have it in mind. Then read carefully, and be guided by these

SPEAKING editorially, under the caption,
"A Hopeful Incident," the Beacon of Wichita, Kansas, in its issue of September 18, says:

"The banquet of the Industrial Relations Organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), reported in yesterday's Beacon, is a fine incident of the growing friendship in industrial relations.

"The most encouraging thing that is happening today in the industrial life of this country is in the new programs of co-operation that are being established between themselves and their employes by great employers. The best industrial plants in the country today are finding their own points of contact with their own men.

"In these new points of contact they are finding the base of that essence of real brotherhood that should exist between the man who labors and the man who employs. This new tendency is the most hopeful thing in the industrial life of America today."

The banquet referred to concluded the Fifth Annual Industrial Conference of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) inaugurated under the guidance of the Board of Directors.

The Industrial Relations Department of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the crystallization of the plans of the Management for giving its employes a voice in the affairs of the Company, that they might sense the sheer joy that comes with independence, and thereby become better citizens, better husbands, better fathers, and better workmen.

The employe representatives of the Joint General Committee are elected by ballot of the employes. This Committee makes recommendations to the Management on matters pertaining to working and living conditions, hours,
wages, safety, housing, athletics and other subjects of immediate interest to the employe.

Out of the 1400 cases which have been submitted to the Management by the Joint General Committees, 93.3% have been approved and made effective.

This exemplifies the spirit of fairness inherent throughout the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) organization.

It is an eloquent manifestation of the harmony
prevailing throughout this shirt-sleeved organization of 27,000 men and women.

Through harmony is gained the whole-hearted,
earnest effort which results in high-speed efficiency. This efficiency has made the Company a leader in the petroleum industry and enables it to render such a superior service to the thirty million people of the Middle West.

EXCHANGE RATES RAILY AFTER NEW DECLINES SCORED

Stock Market Irregular, Some Specialties Being Under Pressure for Time—Cotton Is Strong.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review, says:

The features of today's markets were a rally in the foreign exchange market, followed by a decline in cotton, and a general decline in the stock market. The foreign exchange market was the only one to show a general advance, with the dollar rising against most currencies. This was due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the value of the pound and the franc. The stock market, on the other hand, was characterized by a general decline, with most major indices ending lower. This was attributed to a lack of new buying interest and a general sense of pessimism among investors. The cotton market, however, was a notable exception, showing a strong rally in the afternoon. This was due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the value of the dollar and a general sense of optimism among cotton growers and traders.

With stocks presenting an uninteresting picture for professional activity, there were evidences of a continued shift of speculative operations to the cotton market. Most of the day's trading was done in the cotton futures market, with a general upward trend. This was due to a combination of factors, including a decline in the value of the dollar and a general sense of optimism among cotton growers and traders.

What, however, was unable to hold a rally of one cent so that the cotton option closed only 1/4 of a cent higher at $10.25. The rally was, furthermore, only a temporary recovery from the extensive decline of the cotton market. The cotton market was characterized by a general decline, with most major indices ending lower. This was attributed to a lack of new buying interest and a general sense of pessimism among investors.

ST. LOUIS STOCK EXCHANGE, Oct. 23.—Transactions on the local stock market today were moderate, with a general decline in most major indices. ## ITALY APPROVES U. S. RHINE ARMY CLAIMS Decree Gives Effect to Agreement for Reimbursement for Occupation Expense.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Oct. 23.—The Council of Ministers today approved a decree giving effect, so far as Italy is concerned, to the agreement concluded in Paris on May 25 among the Italian, British, French, Belgian and American representatives concerning reimbursement to the United States of the expenses of maintaining its army of occupation in the Rhineland.

The agreement provided that the amount should be paid out of the allied receipts from Germany in 12 annual installments.

FALL APPEARS AS WITNESS IN OIL LEASE INVESTIGATION

Former Secretary Says Danger of Drainage From Other Wells One of Chief Reasons for Deal.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Former Secretary Fall of the Interior Department appeared today before the Senate Public Lands Committee in its investigation of the lease of the teapot dome, Wyoming, naval oil reserve last year of the Sinclair interests. The former Secretary was largely responsible for the lease made jointly with Secretary Denby of the Navy Department.

The chief reasons advanced by Fall and other administration officials for granting the lease—the danger of drainage from adjacent wells—were in general supported by reports on the present state of the property submitted to the committee at the opening of the investigation yesterday by two expert geologists.

The experts reported the depletion by drainage has been so great that the estimated yield would be only a fraction of the original estimate by the Bureau of Mines of 135,000,000 barrels. One gave a rough estimate of 25,000,000 barrels as the maximum and the other said it would not be less than 12,000,000 or more than 24,000,000.

TWO ISSUES IN DRY LAW APPEAL RULED ON BY COURT

Indictment by U. S. Jury Held Trial in Federal Courts Held Not to Be Necessary.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Indictment by a Federal Grand Jury is not necessary before a person can be tried in the Federal Courts for violating the Federal prohibition laws, and the fact that a sentence for violating prohibition laws includes hard labor does not make it an "infamous crime."

The Supreme Court laid down these principles yesterday in cases brought by John H. Bede against the United States Marshal for Eastern New York, and by Joe Wyman, convicted in the same district.

Both Bede and Wyman were convicted for violation of the national prohibition law, and both sought to obtain their release on the ground that the offense for which they were sentenced to imprisonment was an infamous crime, for which they could only be tried after indictment by a grand jury.

VERDICT WOMAN'S DEATH WAS SUPERINDUCED BY 'MOONSHINE'

East St. Louis Woman Became Ill at Party, at Which She Supplied Whisky.

A verdict that death was caused by acute dilation of the heart, superinduced by "moonshine" whisky, was returned at the inquest today into the death of Mrs. Margaret Davis, 23 years old, of 502A Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, at Deaconess Hospital at 1:30 a. m. yesterday.

The woman became ill at a party at the rooms of Grover C. Gross, 212A North Sixth street, at which Mrs. Davis provided three quarts of whisky for herself and two other women and three men. The others were made ill, but recovered.

WOMAN'S DEATH INCREASES AX MURDERS IN BIRMINGHAM TO 20

Another Woman, Wounded by Same Person at Same Time, Is Expected to Die.

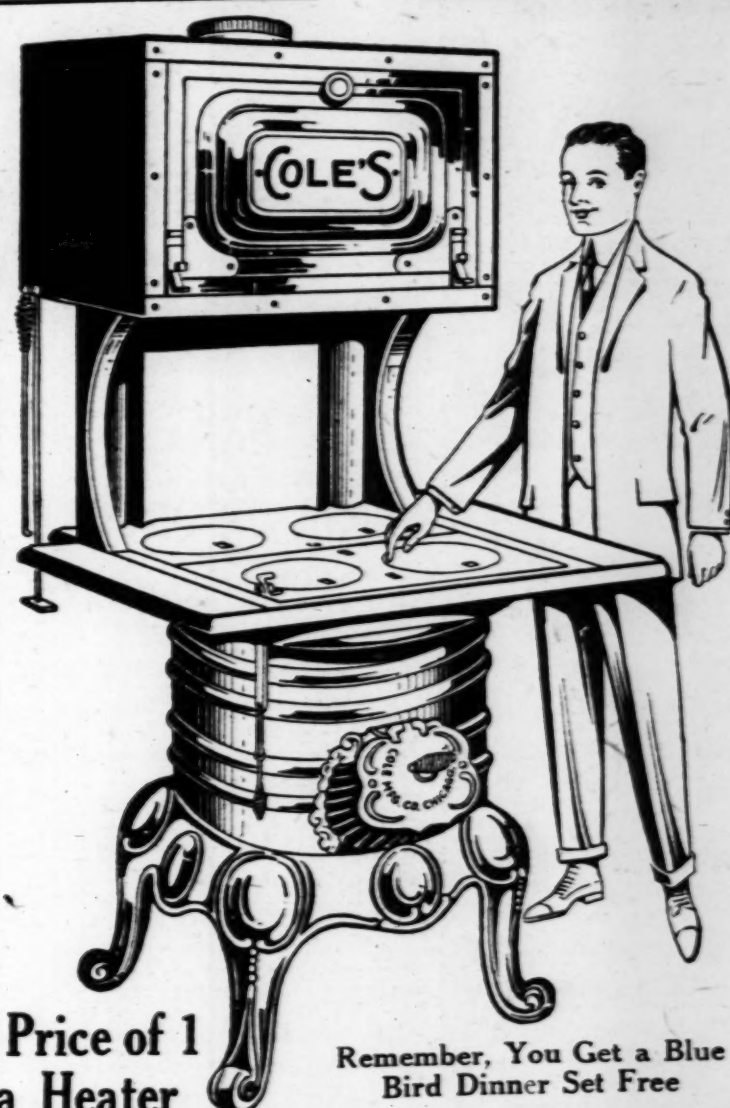

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 23.—Birmingham's twentieth "ax murder" was recorded today when Mrs. Frank Romeo died from wounds inflicted by a person who entered the shop and home of Bernard Vigilante, her son-in-law, last night, at which time Mrs. Vigilante was probably fatally injured by the same man. The assailant of the two women used a meat cleaver. Sixty dollars was removed from the cash register, police reported.

AUSTRIAN PRINCE ACCUSES WIFE

Copyright, 1934, by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World.
PARIS, Oct. 23.—How Prince de Colloredo Mannsfeld, former Austrian Ambassador to London, called in a police commissary to obtain evidence in his conjugal difficulties was related in a Paris court yesterday, when the Prince, who is asking for a divorce, charged that his wife was friendly with a dancer named Legall. The incident on which the suit is based happened at the house of the Princess at Passy. The co-respondent was discovered, it is alleged, in a small house in the garden.

THIS DOG DOESN'T WORRY THIS BIRD!

"King," the dog, took a look at the size and general aspect of this old he-pelican the first day the wild bird got so tame as to visit the kitchen of W. B. Gelatt, a resort keeper on the shore of Donner Lake, high up in the Sierra Mountains of Northern California. King decided to be friendly. Gelatt fed the visitor. Next day the pelican brought his wife. The third day seven more pelicans joined the pair. All were fed, being so tame as to eat out of the landlord's hand. He hopes they'll come again next season.

Kemp Turns on His Speed

Mostly Sally By P. G. Wodehouse
A CONTINUED STORY

Asks Sally to Marry Him

The Story Thus Far—

SALLY NICHOLAS is a little daughter of the world-at-large. She and her brother Fillmore have just come into possession of a sum of money left them by their father, a widower, who died years before. With the coming of the money Sally and Fillmore leave their uncle with whom they lived and go to New York.

The trail leads to the inevitable boarding house with its actors and near-actors. Sally becomes engaged to Gerald Foster, a young playwright. He nose is beginning to take on an upward slant toward the boarding house. She goes to Paris for her holiday. There she meets "Ginger" Kemp. Gerald Foster is in the United States struggling to get one of his plays produced. He has found an "angel."

THE croupier gave his moustache a twist with his left hand and the wheel a twist with his right, and silence fell again. Sally, who had shifted to a spot where the pressure of the crowd was less acute, was now able to see Ginger's face. He looked exactly like a dog at a bathhouse. His hair seemed to bristle with excitement. One could almost fancy that his ears were pricked up.

In the tense hush which had fallen on the crowd at the restarting of the wheel, Sally's laugh rang out with an embarrassing clearness. It had a marked effect on all those within hearing. There is something almost of religious ecstasy in the deportment of the spectators at a table where anyone is having a run of luck at roulette, and if she had guffawed in a cathedral she could not have caused a more pained consternation. The earnest worshippers gazed at her with shocked eyes, and Ginger, turning with a start, saw her and jumped up. As he did so, the ball fell with a rattling clink into a red compartment of the wheel; and, as it ceased to revolve and it was seen that at least the big winner had picked the wrong color, a shuddering groan ran through the congregation like that which convulses the penitents' bench at a negro revival meeting. More glances of reproach were cast at Sally. It was generally felt that her injudicious behavior had changed Ginger's luck.

The only person who did not appear to be concerned was Ginger himself. He gathered up his loot, thrust it into his pocket, and elbowed his way to where Sally stood, now definitely established in the eyes of the crowd as a pariah. There was universal regret that he had decided to call it a day. It was to the spectators as though a star had suddenly walked off the stage in the middle of his big scene; and not even a loud and violent quarrel which sprang up at this moment between two excited gamblers over a disputed five-franc counter could wholly console them.

"I say," said Ginger, dexterously plucking Sally out of the crowd, "this is topping, meeting you like this. I've been looking for you everywhere."

"It's funny you didn't find me, then, for that's where I've been. I was looking for you."

"No, really?" Ginger seemed pleased. He led the way to the quiet ante-room outside the gam-

"I Say, Look Here, Will You Marry Me?"

"I say," . . . Ginger Kemp turned bright scarlet and glared before him at the uniformed official, who was regarding their tete-a-tete with the indulgent eye of one who has been through this sort of thing himself. "I say, look here, will you marry me?"

Sally stared at his vermilion profile in frank amazement. Ginger, she had realized by this time, was in many ways a surprising young man, but she had not expected him to be as surprising as this. "Marry you?"

"You know what I mean."

"Well, yes, I suppose I do. You allude to the holy state. Yes, I know what you mean."

"Then how about it?"

Sally began to regain her composure. Her sense of humor was tickled. She looked at Ginger gravely. He did not meet her eye, but continued to drink in the uniformed official, who was by now so carried away by the romance of it all that he had begun to hum a love-ballad under his breath. The

Sally Finds Ginger Kemp Is Serious

"You're the most wonderful girl I've ever met, dash it!" said Ginger, his gaze still riveted on the official by the door. "I dare say it is sudden. I can't help that. I fell in love with you the moment I saw you, and there you are!"

"But . . ."

"Now, look here, I know I'm not much of a chap and all that, but . . . well, I've just won the deuce of a lot of money in there."

"Would you buy me with your gold?"

"I mean to say, we should have

DON'T FRET.

ACHAP gets worlds of sage advice when things don't come his way, some lecture him in terms concise on just the thing to say, while other men hold forth at length on what he ought to do, on forty ways to prove his strength his kin-folks ballyhoo. Says Jenks: "The proper business course will help you right away to stop your troubles at their source." Says Jenkins: "Try Cope!" Some say: "By all means, man, go West!" some boost the old home town; some recommend a lengthy rest; some tell him: "Buckle down!" But, though he were a centipede, he could not try each course folks indicate for pep and speed, while talking till they're hoarse. But in each case there's one sure aid for all who've tried it yet: When you are troubled and dismayed, do not sit down and fret! Do not recount with streaming eyes the times you've missed your aim, while other fellows grabbed the prize and leaped to instant fame. Don't say: "I recollect the day I, too, was going fine; but nothing good has come my way since eighteen-eighty-nine." Don't wear blue goggles when you seek to peer into the years; don't spoil the coming day or week by faking foolish fears. No fretter ever made his mark at anything he tried, so don't let grim forebodings park around your chimney-side. No matter how much harm is done, what will you gain by fret? Old Earth still gets her share of sun—although some days are wet. Try thus to reason with yourself: "I'm in the running yet," pack all your troubles on a shelf and, best of all, don't fret!

He eyes which touched Sally and drove all sense of the ludicrous out of her. Absurd as it was, this man was really serious.

"Well, yes, as a matter of fact I am," he said soberly.

Ginger Kemp bit his lip and for a moment was silent.

"Oh, well, that's torn it!" he said at last.

Cure or Else Control of Diabetes Is Now Assured

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator From New York,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

EVERY daily paper you pick up these days makes some reference to diabetes. It may refer to its cause, but more likely its cure is discussed, particularly as to the part insulin plays in the treatment of this disease.

Many a person has been condemned to a life of mental anguish and unhappiness, because the urinalysis report showed sugar. The public has been taught that sugar in the urine indicates serious and hopeless illness. This is most unfortunate. In many cases the presence of sugar in the urine, or even in the blood, is a temporary condition. It may indicate a relatively unimportant trouble, called glycosuria. The cause of this passing disturbance may be an unbalanced diet. Perhaps the food has been over-rich in sugars and starch.

In diabetes, as in every form of sickness, it is necessary, first of all, to keep the patient free from worry. It makes no difference whether he be suffering from acute or chronic diabetes, the prospect of cure or control should be kept before him.

Careful attention to the general health, moderate exercise and a diet free from carbohydrates are essential.

You will recall that sugar and starches are grouped together chemically and are called carbohydrates, but do not misunderstand about the diet. Great harm can be done by too rapid withdrawal of the carbohydrates. It must be done gradually.

In diabetes there is a failure on the part of the body to utilize and appropriate sugar which is taken. It accumulates in the blood and seriously interferes with the normal action of that vital fluid.

The result of this disturbance is similar to the effect of a slow-acting poison. The victim runs down, loses flesh and may become blind.

Under certain conditions there is such profound poisoning that stupor and even total loss of consciousness are observed.

Naturally, this disease has held the attention of medical men and research workers. Recently Dr. Banting of Toronto astonished the world by the announcement of his remedy, insulin.

On another occasion I shall tell you more about it. My immediate purpose is to say insulin is not a cure for diabetes. It is an agent which makes it possible for the

Coyotes and Moonlight

By Winifred

HOW long since you have slept or tried to sleep out in the open with the full moon for company, and all the coyotes in California giving tongue in the wild hills?

It is a strange experience and worth while—for those who love to step out of the commonplace once in a while and remember for a few hours what a great universe it is that swings in a kind of rhythmic measure to and fro in the twilight and in the starlight and in the silver magic of the moon.

Eleven o'clock, and all the countryside is wrapped in sleep.

The windmill on the next farm is like a tall specter with his arms outstretched, making great shadows that are like a wavering cross upon the ground.

Night in the Open.

The rows of eucalyptus on the highway shiver and tremble in the light breeze like so many picturesque beggars adjusting the ragged cloaks that were once royal raiment of purple and silver.

The great oaks in the meadow below stand firm and steady—and the shadows that they make are round and serene.

On the horizon the great redwoods stand aloof—and you know that at their roots the season has laid a coverlet of fragrant green and brown, inches thick and as soft as the softest down.

Between you and the redwoods are the great valley and the sweep of the rising hills.

How good it is to forget it all, here in the healing calm of the broad valley by moonlight.

Hark! what wild sound is that?

It comes from the top of the mountain—no, now it is sweeping down the canyon there on the edge of the valley. Now it follows the course of the river—how it echoes and re-echoes on the hills. It is as if a thousand yelling demons were suddenly let loose.

Who unlocked that dark and hidden door? Who loosened the chain and set free the souls of the damned to tear across the sheltering earth upon a night like this?

"UL-UL-UL," high like a scream, shivering like a shudder, as cruel as the laugh of the hyena, as terrifying as the roar of the lion. What is it they do

there in the moonlight in the dark hills?

All the dogs in all the farmyards giving tongue. They know well the demons of the woods and of the hills.

The deer know it, too, poor things of peril and of terror.

What proud stag do you follow, friends there in the night—what terrified younglings do you chase and tear to pieces with your cruel teeth?

"UL-UL-UL"—what a wild cry

With Cruelty and . . . Bark, honest watchdogs—call the farmyard to farmyard, so that the hills may listen and feel the chill in their own veins.

The wild dogs of the valleys and the coyotes.

They are abroad tonight in all their cunning.

"A bare-footed friar in orders of . . . So he called one of your number years ago, the man of genius who was meanest subject without laying open of his inspiration.

It is no friar you are like tonight, aside the meek humility that is your own and now we know you for what you are—when you and your slinking hound deer, and the moon is at the full, and harvest are nearly over.

It is not so quiet and so serene and all—is it, ye of the gentle tribe that these wild and cruel dogs?

"UL-UL-UL"—it is a relief when behind the hills and the gray light sun will soon appear.

For then the coyotes slink back to the wild canaries and the hark and thrush begin to tell each other in the trembled to hear the wild cry of the night.

Fair company, the silver moon, glowing—chanting—but what a train of wild rouses from their fierce dream!

ARBITRARY signs used to indicate pauses in writing were used as early as the fourth century B. C. A mark to indicate a paragraph was the earliest to be used. First attempts to establish marks of punctuation were made by Aristophanes of Greece and Aristarchus. Most of the signs and rules of modern punctuation were formulated by Aldus Manutius (1450-1515), a Venetian printer.

If you add little to little repeatedly it will become much.

Silence is not always golden. It may be cowardly or disloyal or false when faith or friendship is assailed.

Helping the School Child

By EMILIE HOFFMAN

IF your child shows a disinclination to school work or seems to be out of harmony with the class or the teacher, do not administer a harsh reprimand or threat of punishment. Try to impress him with the advantages an education gives to a man or woman. Teach him the sense of personal responsibility—this cannot be too strongly stressed. Make him understand that he is the one who gains or loses as he improves or neglects his opportunities.

Defects in the school syllabus and inefficiency in the teacher, whether imaginary with him or real facts, must be tactfully swept aside and the pupil must be strongly impressed with the fact that he, himself, is master of his own destiny as far as education is concerned.

The parent who can firmly instill this idea into the mind of the child will give him a legacy that will not

An Office Mythology.

ONCE upon a time there was an office where there were stamps, paste, stationery, pencils, erasers, etc., to go with. The BOSS believed in semi-annual raises and promotions. He observed all holidays. He dictated distinctly, he grumbled not, neither did he sweat. The SULTAN'S FAVORITE (the stenog.) always came in at 9 a. m. and only one hour for lunch. She did all and never asked you to help her.

The TYPIST never objected to a hand when you were swamped with work. The HANDSOME ASSISTANT MANAGER thought that all the girls were "wild" and wasn't a bit vain—or affected. He had a wife and six children.

The OFFICE BOY (the dear thing) always got straight, ran errands willingly, was invariably polite and kind. And the OFFICE PEST never made catty remarks of her sex, never giggled, never tried to ramp each and tached male in sight. And NEVER tried to act kittenish, she was 35 and unmarried (not from choice).

Of course—this is MYTHOLOGY!

A French professor has discovered a sixth sense, "cryptacathesia," by means of which women can tell, nine times out of ten, when their husbands are lying to them.

We wonder what is the nice long name of that seventh sense, which keeps a woman from telling all she KNOWS, so that her husband—thinking himself safe—may plunge deeper and deeper!

Yourself

By J. J. MUNDY.

WHEN you meet a person is afflicted in some way, do not refer to it.

Talk about something else—something that will interest. There are too many crepe-hangers who go about offering sympathy where words of encouragement are needed most.

Persons who have an affliction have also many hours when it is impossible to forget about it.

The only chance they have of doing so is to mingle with others or have the companionship of others at home.

Companionship which helps to forget is needed to keep up courage.

Forgetfulness of trouble is the only relaxation possible, perhaps.

Why can you not be a person of this kind—thoughtful of others?

Dry up your crocodile tears. Get that sorrowful sob-tone out of your voice.

You are the only one who derives pleasure from your sad pose.

The dramatic effect you linger over as you lament with your friend is lugged by yourself and loathed by those who suffer.

Cheer with smiles, happy words and a generally helpful spirit.

Children's Bedtime Story ::

By Thornton W. Burgess

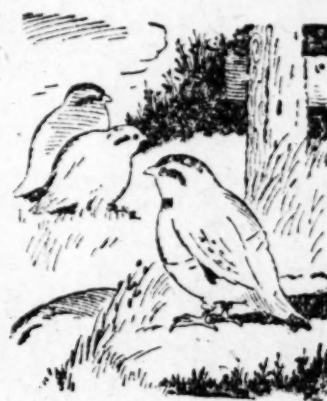

When wisdom's gained there's nothing lost.
No matter what has been the cost.
—Old Mother Nature.

OLD Mother Nature watches over her children with the greatest care. She does her best to heal their hurts as rapidly as possible. She did this for the wounded Bob White. The shot from a terrible gun had broken no bones. They had torn the tender skin and flesh on the young Bob White's back. Of course, they had hurt dreadfully, and he had suffered much.

But after he reached the dear Old Briar Patch where there was nothing to worry about, he regained his strength rapidly. Old Mother Nature healed his back as fast as she could, and in a surprisingly short time he was as good as ever. Then he rejoined his brothers and sisters, and there was great rejoicing.

Now, though he didn't know it himself, and his brothers and sisters didn't know it, that young Bob White returned to them with something he hadn't had before. It was something he had gained from his terrible experience. It was something, which, but for that terrible experience, he might have been a very long time in gaining, or might never have gained. It was wisdom. Yes sir, it was wisdom. It had cost him a lot of suffering from both fright and pain, but now that he had it he was likely to live longer than if he had never been through that terrible experience.

There are some who seem never to gain wisdom no matter how many lessons they have or how bitter those lessons may be. But it was not so with the young Bob White. He proved this two days after he rejoined his brothers and sisters. They happened to be over near the wheat field where they had been shot at by the hunter with the terrible gun, and where the young Bob White had been wounded. And as before, it happened that Bob White and Mrs. Bob White were not with them.

"A whole skin is worth more than a full stomach," said he.

"It seems a shame that we cannot go over there and get some of that good wheat," said one of the young Bob Whites. "Personally I don't think there is the least bit of danger. I haven't seen a sign of that hunter with the terrible gun since the day he surprised us over there. I, for one, am not afraid to go over there again."

"Neither am I," said another. A third said the same thing. And several others nodded their pretty little heads in agreement. One flew over to a fence post from which he could look all over the wheat field. Then he flew back. "It is perfectly safe over there," he declared. "There isn't a hunter in sight anywhere. I've just got to have some of that wheat. It wouldn't take us long to get all we want and get back here again."

Then up spoke the young Bob White who had been wounded. "A whole skin is worth more than a full stomach," said he. "I know. We all thought we were safe enough the last time we went over there. We laughed to ourselves at the warnings of father and mother. Here we know we are safe. A stomach full of good food is a splendid thing to have, but life and a whole skin are better. No hunter with a terrible gun will have a chance to shoot at me through foolishness on my part. The wise avoid even the chance of danger. Who puts temptation behind him proves he has gained wisdom."

With this the young Bob White whirled away on his stout wings over toward Farmer Brown's cornfield. The others hesitated a moment or two, and then followed him. So it was that this young Bob White proved that he had gained wisdom, and became a leader among his brothers and sisters.

AN APPROPRIATE QUOTATION.

In New Rochelle, that thriving suburb of New York, formerly lived an individual who combined the practice of a somewhat unpoetic calling with a romantic temperament. His business was that of a garbage collector and a cleaner-out of sewers. But even in the midst of his professional labors he was much given to larding his conversation with quotations from the poets. Rarely did an occasion arise when the operator was at a loss for a classic reference.

August Thomas, the playwright, lives in New Rochelle. A situation arose when he required the expert services of this fellow-townsmen of his. The main kitchen drain of the Thomas home was stopped up.

The official cleaner arrived equipped with the tools of his trade. He removed the cover of the outlet and then for a moment he paused. The job was of such magnitude as temporarily to abash even so experienced a hand. Slowly, almost reluctantly, he rolled up his sleeves, meanwhile audaciously eyeing the prospect which confronted him.

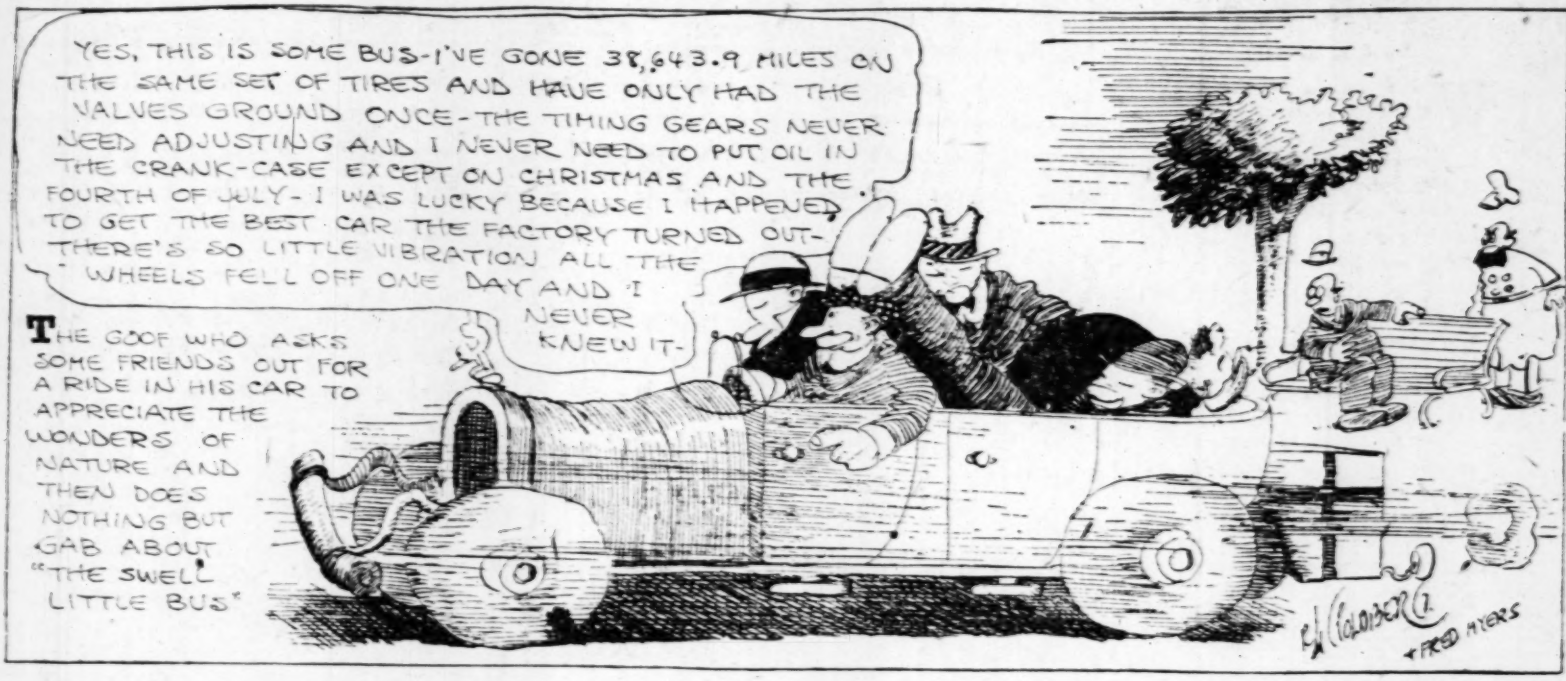

He looked aloft at Thomas, standing above him, and shook his head. Then, as he took a deep breath of resolution, he said:

"Well, Mr. Thomas, I suppose I might just as well go ahead. After all, 'Faint heart ne'er won fair lady.'"

And with these words he dived in.

BRITAIN SAID TO SUPPORT BERLIN MOVE IN RHINELAND

Cologne Dispatch Says That German Officials, With Approval of British, Have Organized Central Economic Council, Stinner Being Among Members.

REPUBLIC MOVEMENT SPENDS FIRST FORCE

Reports Indicate That While Separatists Have Taken Few Villages, They Have Lost Coblenz, Their 'Capital,' and Mayence.

By the Associated Press. COLOGNE, Oct. 24.—German officials, here with the approval of the British, have organized a Central Economic Council for the entire Rhineland province. Members of the organization include Hugo Stinner and Otto Wolf.

It is understood that the British sponsored the institution of such a council as a reminder to the French that affairs in the occupied region have an allied and not merely a French interest.

By the Associated Press. DUESSELDORF, Oct. 24.—The Rhineland republican movement has spent its first force, according to reports received over the crippled wire systems, but the situation is still confused. The Republicans took a few additional villages and towns yesterday and last night, but cleared out of Coblenz, their "capital," and Mayence, and reaction is apparent in a number of the towns they still hold. The Separatists occupied Coblenz yesterday.

Mulheim-on-Rhine, nearly opposite Cologne, was occupied by the Separatists shortly after they had taken possession of Duisburg, according to German newspapers here. All public telephone and telegraph communication has been interrupted between the principal centers of the Rhineland.

Six Killed, Scores Injured in Clash at Aix-la-Chapelle.

By the Associated Press. AIX-LA-CHAPELLE, Oct. 24.—Half a dozen persons were killed and scores were injured as the Loyalists retained possession of Aix-la-Chapelle. The movement to oust the Separatists from the government buildings here, which began to form Monday night, had gained strength by Tuesday morning and by noon some of the Separatists who had been in charge of the buildings were taken back. Others in the building came to their rescue, seized trucks and drove through the streets of the city, firing into the throng.

The situation became too much for the local police and Belgian troops arrived in the scene, clearing the streets and driving the Separatists back to their last remaining stronghold.

After a semblance of order had been restored, Police Commissioner Wilhelm Buhr went into the government headquarters building in which only 40 Republicans, commanded by Leo Deckers, were fortified and gave the invaders until 3 o'clock in the afternoon to vacate.

Belgians Refuse to Intervene. "Send us a truck and two Belgian soldiers and we will go," called down one of the men. However, after one of the hurried consultations between the French, Belgian and British officials, the Belgians decided not to intervene. A few moments later a Separatist leaned from a window and speaking in French, shouted:

"We are looking to France and Belgium to help us out of this situation. We suffered for France and Belgium and we welcome anything they do, but we will have nothing to do with these Prussians."

The time had now expired and everyone was waiting tensely. Finally a stentorian voice shouted from the window "no negotiations."

Within the next few minutes a truckload of police arrived and pushed the Separatists up to the window. The officers were beginning to ascend when Herr Buhr called upon them to halt. After a short conference it was decided not to storm the building as that would only have more bloodshed, and at dark the Separatists still held it. All other buildings that had been taken by the Separatists had been recaptured.
